

Ready To Put State On War Basis MOVE TO AVERT BIG STRIKE Central Bridge Question Before Council

City Solicitor and Attorney Wier at Odds Over Certain Votes On Bridge Question

The meeting of the municipal council this morning was featured by a debate between City Solicitor William D. Regan and Fred N. Wier, counsel for the Engineering Service and Construction company of Boston. The bone of contention was work now being done on the Central bridge and involved points of sub-contractors and the method of settling for the work on the structure. Atty. Wier attempted to have a vote passed which would recognize the Scannell Boiler Works as sub-contractors from April 9. Mr. Regan objected and tendered a vote which would check the company, as Mr. Wier put it, from obtaining litigation. After a wordy battle, a roll-call was heard on whether or not the council would consider the votes today. Commissioners Murphy and Salmon voted in the affirmative while Commissioners Donnelly and Marchand and Mayor Thompson opposed. The matter was tabled until the next meeting of the council which is scheduled for Tuesday.

Parting of the Ways

During the discussion Mr. Wier agreed with Mr. Regan that they had come to the parting of the ways on the bridge question, while at one point Mr. Wier accused Mr. Regan of attempting to obtain a strangle hold on the construction company.

The debate started when Mr. Wier introduced his vote to have the Scannell Boiler company recognized by the city as sub-contractors. He admitted that this had never been done but it had been generally accepted by all parties interested that the Scannell Boiler works was to have the contract for labor and materials in steel work on the bridge.

Mr. Regan's chief objection was that such a vote as asked by Mr. Wier would subject the city to too much expense inasmuch as there would be a chance of pyramiding costs. He said the city was willing to pay for actual labor and costs of materials in addition to the 15 per cent cost plus as called for by the contract but refused to allow any other agreement such as was wanted by Mr. Wier to be voted upon without the matter being carefully considered.

According to Mr. Regan, when the contract was drawn up, the contractors were given a choice of doing the work per unit cost or on the 15 per cent cost plus basis. He said at that time it was written in the contract that all sub-contracts would have to be approved by the municipal council and be accompanied by a written order for such.

No Unfiled Approval

Mr. Regan contended the Scannell company had never received official approval by the council. Here Mr. Wier said that on April 9 City Engineer Kearney in a letter to William A. Driscoll of the construction company ap-

BIG VOTE LOOKED FOR ON CHARTER QUESTION—WOMEN INTERESTED

Voters Early at the Polls Today—Big Increase in Early Morning Vote Over the Last Special Election

General Apathy Is on the Run!

Lowell voters—men and women—woke up this morning to a realization of the fact that today's special election on the new charter proposition was a pressing vital problem and not a mere topic for current political debate, administrative charges and campaign arguments. As a result of this widespread feeling that the new charter proposition is one of vast importance to the city, the voters today went to the polls earlier than they did during the special election a week ago.

Figures gathered by The Sun reporters at noon showed that 21 precincts out of 28 had increased their early morning vote at least 15 per cent over the last special election up to 11 o'clock. In 10 precincts in wards 4, 7, 9 and 2, the vote was nearly twice as heavy as last week up to 10:30 o'clock.

The vote came out early in the Highland territory. Centralville precincts reported no general rush to the polls, but a better percentage up to 10 o'clock than was recorded at the previous election.

Political wiseacres who can sometimes tell which way the wind blows by early reading of the first ballot tabulators in the liveliest precincts, declared this afternoon that this special election had no need of campaign workers. The voters were steadily going to the various precincts, and it was evident, ward officers said, that many more women were voting than was the case last week.

Wherever The Sun men went this morning, women were present in

LLOYD GEORGE TO SIX BITTEN COME TO U. S.

LONDON, Oct. 18. (By the Associated Press.)—Premier Lloyd George stated in the house of commons, upon the reassembling of that body today, that he hoped to go to the Washington conference on the limitation of armaments and Far Eastern problems as soon as the parliamentary and general situation rendered it possible. The other members of the British empire delegation, the premier said, would be A. J. Balfour and Lord Lee of Fareham, first lord of the admiralty. Sir Auckland Geddes, the British ambassador at Washington, would act as a delegate. Mr. Lloyd George added, in the absence of the premier or any other delegate.

SIX BITTEN BY MAD DOG

LAWRENCE, Oct. 18.—Six persons were bitten by a mad dog which ran amuck through the streets for nearly two hours today before he was shot by Policeman Patrick Casey, who gave chase in an automobile.

Four of the wounded are at a local hospital, two of them severely bitten. Harry Bokondou, four years of age, had his cheek badly lacerated and Zaremba, another small boy, was bitten about the eyes and chin. The others at the hospital are Mrs. Ada Zaremba and Ida Rathken, eight years old, with wounds on hands and arms.

The dog was reported first from the residential district on the south side of the Merrimack river and later crossed into the mill district. Policeman Carey came upon the animal at the corner of Hampshire and Haverhill streets in the business section and followed it for several blocks before he brought it down with his fourth shot.

It was testified that Beauparlant was the operator of an automobile that collided with another machine near the Aiken street bridge on the evening of Oct. 10. The police were called to the scene of the mishap and Beauparlant and another man, who was in the same car, were placed under arrest. A third man, who was also taken to the station, was released.

Justify Action By Pointing

BELFAST, Oct. 18.—Reports that the Ulster volunteer force was being reorganized were verified in official quarters today. It was stated that ex-service men were being enrolled.

"Why shouldn't they be when the Sinn Feiners are drilling, even in Belfast?" was the comment in official quarters.

Colonel Spender, who formerly commanded the Ulster volunteers, resigned on assuming the secretaryship of the Ulster cabinet, but the view was expressed that the officering of the force would present no trouble.

The plan indicated is to place the men under officers to be responsible for their men to the central authority. This idea, it was explained, would be adopted to facilitate the quick assembly of the force.

A LOT OF THINGS

THERE WERE PROFESSOR PEERABOUT'S EYEGLASSES WITH THE BIG RIMS.

Everything went smoothly for awhile in the Land of the Wiggles. Cap'n Pennywinkle and Curly-horse minded the traffic where it was thickest, and took care that the big fishes from the North did not bump a little fish or a little fish bump into the little fishes from the South, and the little fishes from the South did not get in the way of the little fishes from the North, also that the big fishes from the East did not— but goodness me! You know the rest of it. But perhaps you don't know, my dears, that the reason for such care was that when a big fish bumps into a big one, usually one of them disappears, skin, fins, tail, 'n' all, and it isn't the big one.

Nick and Nancy did lots of errands. Indeed, they were busier than you'd ever think. For one thing there were so many things to be returned, and Cap'n Pennywinkle hadn't a single minute to spare from his duties to do it. Did you think that the Fairy Queen was the only person who lost anything? No, indeed—think of the boats! Folks were so careless about

AMERICAN LEGION EMPLOYMENT BUREAU

Seeking to aid as much as possible the unemployed world war veterans of Lowell the local post of the American Legion at its regular meeting last evening voted not only to co-operate with the mayor's employment committee but also to open at the earliest possible time, probably next week, a legion employment bureau, through which the ex-service men hope to place many of their comrades' work. Although the bureau has only been a spoken-of-matter so far, Commander Powers announced at the meeting that eight men were provided positions in the last week and plans are being made to obtain jobs for more veterans who are out of work and known to be in real need of assistance. It was stated that among the business firms that have given ex-service men jobs, thus co-operating with the legion campaign, are the Furber Brush company of Lawrence and the Jewett Cider mill. The state highway commission has also placed a number of men to work on the Littleton road job.

CAMPAIGN FOR NEW MEMBERS

The important things on the schedule of the Y.W.C.A. this week are a campaign for new members and a few conferences with three association members from New York. Last Friday marked the beginning of the membership campaign. Five teams from different parts of the city are in competition and before Thursday night, when the contest ends, it is expected that a new record for membership will be reached.

Five teams of twenty members each under the leadership of their chairmen are, according to the plans of the campaign, busy in every district of the city. Mrs. L. A. Ayer, Pawtucketville; Mrs. C. Marshall Forrest, Upper Highlands; Mrs. W. J. Lower, Highlands; Mrs. John Stevens, Healdville; and Mrs. S. Black, Centralville, are the chairmen of the teams. Friday at a directors' and secretaries' luncheon the conferences with the New York officials will begin. Miss Julia Capen, city secretary for this branch, Miss Hobbs, a finance specialist, and a national association committee member whose name is not known are the visitors. The executive committee and the chairmen of the different departments will have a conference on matters concerning association work with the New York specialists after the luncheon. Miss Capen, later in the day will talk before a staff meeting of Lowell Y.W.C.A. workers.

Intelligent Co-operation

THIS great sale of "old reliable" Kohler and Campbell pianos is not a thing of the moment—it didn't "just happen." It is the direct result of intelligent co-operation between a well known manufacturer and his retailers—a deliberate effort to co-ordinate the "making" and the "selling" ends of the business. Read the further explanation that follows.

THIS IS OUR PROPOSITION IN A NUTSHELL

First to make it as easy as possible to buy a Kohler & Campbell piano whether you prefer a straight upright—a player-piano or a baby grand. The prices for this sale are—

SALE	PRICES
Upright Piano .....	$375
Player-piano .....	$575
Baby Grand .....	$725

No Interest

We make it so easy to pay for one of these splendid instruments,—that no one may say "I would like to own one—but I cannot afford it."

PAY $10 DOWN

Or $20.00 per week on an Upright
Or $30.00 per week on a Player-piano
Or $40.00 per week on a Baby Grand
On Our 3 Year Plan

No Interest

You may pay as little as $10 as a first or "down" payment. Or you may take as long as 3 years to pay the balance by taking advantage of our weekly payment plan. This small down payment or this long time extension is merely a part of our plan to put good music in the home of everyone who wants it. There are other advantages,—notably the high character of the instruments.

GUARANTEE

Kohler & Campbell instruments are guaranteed unreservedly in writing for ten years from date of purchase,—we holding ourselves jointly liable with the manufacturers.

How it is made possible

It is just a matter of common business sense. An increase in the sale of a thing permits a decrease in the price; a greater volume automatically tends to reduce costs. This sale is for the purpose of selling 100 Kohler & Campbell pianos right here in Lowell—naturally we can sell them for less than if we only sold forty pianos during the same period of time.

By offering these attractive prices,—by giving exceptionally easy terms of payment,—we increase our sales and thereby reduce prices.

Hence, this sale is based on good business reasoning,—on what might well be termed "enlightened self interest." By the same token, it should appeal to you. Join the "get together" movement—save money and at the same time have music in your home. This saving—on any Kohler & Campbell instrument you buy here now—represents the reduced gross profit made possible by selling in large numbers. Isn't this plain? You will do well to come and examine these splendid instruments. They are very far removed from the sort of pianos made for "sale" purposes.

The safe way to wash fine fabrics

Tests made by leading makers of delicate fabrics

WITH the greatly increased use of sheer fabrics and very delicate colors in the last few years, the manufacturers of silk materials and garments have met a serious problem in the way women laundered them.

Incorrect washing methods and the use of wrong soap products have ruined numberless garments, and brought the manufacturers many complaints.

Leading manufacturers of fine silks, woolsens, and sheer fabrics, have recently made careful investigation of the laundering of their special products.

Weak Women
Regain Lost Strength

Surprised by Amazing Promptness With Which They Are Benefited

Women who are weak and run-down and in a nervous condition are writing us in steadily increasing numbers how they have been benefited by the use of Wincarnis. These letters are conclusive proof of the extraordinary tonic and restorative virtues of Wincarnis.

Mrs. John R. Perkins, wife of the well known florist of Green, R. I., was suffering with stomach trouble and weakened nerves after a serious illness. In a recent letter she said: "My food would not digest but would go to gas and I could hardly keep still a minute. After doctoring for six months I began taking Wincarnis and found that it not only helped my nerves but also regulated my digestive organs. I helped me wonderfully and I would gladly recommend it to women who have nervous trouble."

Mrs. N. Gasmann of 59 Rutgers Ave., Jersey City, N. J., says: "Wincarnis is everything you have said it to be. I was nervous, irritable and always discontented. Even the doctors' medicines did me no good. I took Wincarnis and I have improved so much in the last few weeks that words fail me to express my gratitude."

Mrs. G. Schults, 5811 Orkney street, Philadelphia, Pa., reports: "I was in a run-down condition after an attack of influenza. The doctor gave me a tonic but it did not seem to help me at all. I saw an advertisement for Wincarnis and thought I would try it. It soon made me feel like a new person."

Wincarnis did Mrs. Carrie Hendrickson of No. 113 Broad Street, Red Bank, N. J., so much good that she recommends it to all her friends. Recently she wrote: "Only those who have suffered from influenza can realize the intense weakness in which it leaves the system. My recovery after influenza was very slow. I did not care whether school kept or not until after I had taken Wincarnis. I have great faith in the preparation and always keep it in the house and recommend it to all my friends."

Miss Helen Katiowski, of 475 Grove Street, Jersey City, N. J., reports that she gained six pounds in one month while taking Wincarnis. Mrs. Battle J. Goodrich of Ludlow, Vermont, who has been suffering from nervous trouble and is subject to fainting spells writes enthusiastically of the benefit she has derived from the use of Wincarnis.

We could publish thousands of similar letters received from many parts of the world. For Wincarnis is famous throughout the world as a tonic, restorative, bloodmaker and nerve-builder.

Wincarnis is put up in two sizes—$1.10 and $1.25. It is sold in Lowell by Durkinshaw Drug Co., 418 Middlesex St., and all first-class drug stores.

Write for free instructive booklet, "Hundred Per Cent. Health, How To Obtain It," to Edward Lassar, Inc., Dept. B, 400 West 23rd Street, New York, U. S. Agents for Wincarnis. Adv.

Pains Around the Heart

When the action of the stomach is weakened by debility or defective nerve force the food is retained until it ferments. Gas forms and presses on the other organs, particularly the heart, the pains in that region often causing a fear of heart trouble. Organic heart trouble rarely causes pain around the heart and when this symptom is noted you should try toning up your digestion before giving way to needless alarm.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic that directly affects the organs of digestion. They supply to the stomach the rich, red blood without which normal digestion is impossible. They awaken into activity the gastric glands and strengthen the muscles of the stomach and give the nerve force necessary to proper digestion and assimilation.

Two books, "Building Up the Blood" and "What to Eat and How to Eat," will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are for sale in every drug store or they will be sent direct, postpaid, on receipt of price, sixty cents per box.—Adv.

PLAN BIG CELEBRATION

Grand Centenary Celebration Discussed by Descendants of Irish Pioneers

Descendants of the Irish pioneers in Lowell and vicinity are discussing plans for a grand centenary celebration next April, to mark the first great influx of Irish laborers who came to East Chelmsford, afterwards Lowell, to settle on the "Acres."

On April 6, 1822, 30 Irish laborers, headed by Hugh Cumminskey, walked over the road from Charlestown to what is now Lowell. On the same afternoon they reported to Kirk Boott, then agent for the Merrimack company, in front of what is now the American house, and expressed their willingness to start work immediately, widening the Pawtucket canal. But Mr. Boott, noticing the tired, dusty condition of the willing Irish laborers, told them to take some refreshment and rest until the next day. The next morning, he pointed out the work outlined for them to their foreman, Hugh Cumminskey, who had previously contracted with Boott to widen and rebuild the old Pawtucket canal, which at that time furnished power for the mills and machine shops in the new town.

Here was started in a short time, the first Irish colony in Lowell, and from its precincts have come the children, the grandchildren and the great grandchildren of the pioneer laborers who helped to make Lowell possible.

Among those of the direct descendants of these first Irish, now living, is John J. Green of 113 Shaw street, who is one of the most enthusiastic movers for a centennial celebration. Mr. Green's father, who was also named John, came to Lowell from Boston when it was known as East Chelmsford, to work as gardener for Kirk Boott. On arrival here, he superintended the laying out of the beautiful botanical gardens around Mr. Boott's residence and beautified the approaches to the Merrimack mill.

In conversation with a reporter, Mr. John J. Green said:

"This idea to observe the coming of the first Irish pioneers to Lowell by a celebration next spring is one that should arouse those of Irish birth and descent in and around the city. Those thirty Irish laborers—sturdy young fellows as they must have been—really paved the way for the success of the city. They were humble, but they had the brains, the brains and the initiative to build the canals, the mills and the streets and boarding-houses. Under the expert supervision of Mr. Cumminskey, who had considerable natural genius, the above 'maris' and avenues of trade were accomplished. And Hugh Cumminskey, the practical contractor and builder, was aided by the superior education of Patrick Tracy Jackson, who was of Irish extraction, Paul Moody and Kirk Boott.

"With the deeds of these first pioneers in mind, some leading spirits in Lowell and surrounding towns should evolve a fitting centenary observance. If I were a young man, I would take an active interest in formulating plans. However, I am ready to give advice—historical and otherwise—to help along plans made by more active young men in the city, who are willing to inaugurate a celebration that will give the Irish pioneers due credit."

Other leading citizens of Irish extraction, some of them actual descendants of the first thirty who settled on the "Acres" or its vicinity, were interviewed and all voiced Mr. Green's sentiments.

The consensus of opinion among those interviewed was that the centennial celebration should take the form of a three days observance, with a big parade of Irish societies, exercises in the Catholic schools with the reading of historical essays, the delivering of orations, interspersed with music, the erection of historical markers or tablets in a public place, either on the North common or at some point on the old "Acres," culminating with a grand banquet or meeting at which distinguished orators, preferably descendants of the Irish pioneers, would preside.

SCHOOL FOR WAR

VETERANS CLOSED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Orders closing the Berkeley Pre-Vocational school at Boston, where 500 war veterans have been in attendance, were issued yesterday by Director Forbes of the veterans bureau.

Mr. Forbes said the school had been found to be unsanitary, unhealthy and he was satisfied that "it had been vouchsafing the government for services never rendered."

One student, aged 72, was discovered on the school's rolls. Mr. Forbes declared. He is William Blackburn of Lynn, Mass., who, Mr. Forbes declared, has learned to write his name in a shaky hand after receiving government training for over two years at a cost of about $3600. How Blackburn qualified for vocational training was not explained.

"SPRINGTIME" BY GIRLS CITY CLUB AT OPERA HOUSE BIG SUCCESS

Capacity Audience Generous in Its Appreciation of Young Actors' Efforts—Play Replete With Comedy, Dancing, Song and Story

A capacity audience filled the Opera House last night when the first presentation of "Springtime" was given under the auspices of the Girls City Club, and generous applause rewarded the young actors' efforts from beginning to end. Scarcely, if ever, has amateur talent in this city succeeded in attaining such surprising excellence in a play calling for capable acting and, in addition, dancing and singing of a high order, but the audience at last evening's performance was well repaid for its patronage. A professional company could hardly have given a more satisfactory presentation.

The comedy was rehearsed and staged under the personal direction of Miss Louise E. Chase, of the John B. Rogers Producing company, and the results attained by this capable director show that she possesses acuity of the highest order. The Girls City club is to be congratulated on securing such an able and enthusiastic coach.

It is a most difficult task to give full credit to all who are deserving of it. The many principals executed their roles in such a finished manner that they are all worthy of special mention, but of course those who played the "lead" Miss Louise Gaudette, as "Priscilla" and Thomas M. Kelly as "Jack Walworth" had the most opportunity for displaying their talent, and the fact that their every effort was rewarded by unstinted applause clearly shows that they made the most of the opportunity. Charles J. Keyes as "Bobby Brewster" was ideally cast and his fun-making ability, which has been conclusively demonstrated many times in the past, convulsed the audience. Miss Alice Coyne as "Zenobia," "Bobby's" wife, was exceptionally good, and her makeup deserves particular mention. Miss Kathryn O'Neill as "Primrose" was delightful, and Miss Mary Raven as "Margaret Tompkins" was a susceptible maiden, who merited applause. Eugene Mullin portrayed the part of "James Brewster," founder of the famous "Brewster Pills," as only a comedian of "Genes" ability could portray it, and as "Thankful Standish" his sister, Miss Alice Curran succeeded in giving a most artistic interpretation of an excellent character role. Misses Marie and Helen Doyle, Miss Isabel McCafferty and other McQuade did excellent work in the second act.

The clapping, of which there was an abundance throughout the play, was particularly good, and the dancing, exceptionally clever. Pretty costumes, which added greatly to the general effect.

The story of the play deals with the blighted romance of a daughter of 1859 aristocracy and the son of the founder of "Brewster's Pills," which is repeated in the case of their children in the late years of the nineteenth century. It is finally realized in the union of their grandchildren in 1920. The time involved in the story covers a period of more than fifty years. A prelude, explaining the situation, introduces each of the three acts, with Mrs. Belle Harrington Hall doing excellent work as raconteur.

Scene one of Act one is set in an old garden near New York, in May, 1921. Priscilla Dean's friends are celebrating her twentieth birthday with a Mardi Gras party. The other scenes of the play have the same setting, the second act portraying the garden in May, 1858, twenty years later than the second scene of Act one, which is in May, 1868. The final scene brings us back to the present time. The cast of the play, the ensemble and the musical numbers are as follows:

Act 1—Evelyn Eastman, a social butterfly, Alice Dacey, Desiree, May Hewson, Joyce, Sadie Melancon; Sue, Anna O'Leary; Mrs. Elkins, of another generation. Mrs. Belle Harrington Hall; James Brewster, founder of the famous Brewster's Pills, Eugene Mullin; Thankful Standish, his sister, Alice Curran; Priscilla Brewster, daughter of James; Emily Gaudette, Primrose, Standish, daughter of Thankful; Cathryn O'Neill; Tom Higgins, of Boston; Charles Clancy; Jack Walworth, a young inventor; Thomas M. Kelly; Elvira Judd, a young widow; Alice Dacey; Abigail Tompkins, a susceptible maiden; Mary Craven; Bobby Brewster, a lion with the ladies; Charles J. Keyes; Hower girls, Marie Gallagher and Margaret Tully.

Act 2—Little Priscilla, Maria Dewire, Vera, Dora Dewire; Daisy, Isabel McQuade; Master Jack, Arthur McQuade; Billy and Joe, Wm. Kelly and Walter Pascal; Mrs. Priscilla Higgins, formerly Priscilla Brewster; Emily Gaudette; "Wizard" Jack Walworth; Thomas M. Kelly; Primrose Walworth, formerly Elvira Judd; Cathryn O'Neill; Mrs. Elvira Higgins; Alice Dacey; Abigail Tompkins, older but still susceptible; Mary Craven; Bobby Brewster, (the same Bobby); Charles J. Keyes; Zenobia, his wife, Alice Coyne.

Act 3—Priscilla Dean, granddaughter

of Priscilla Brewster, Emily Gaudette; Doctor Jack Walworth, grandson of "Wizard" Jack; Thomas M. Kelly; Bobby Brewster, still the same Bobby; Charles J. Keyes; Primrose, his man; Francis Higgins; Ed and George, Bernard Knopf and Win. Hineckley.

Each act has several pleasing musical numbers, comprising solos, duets, groups and choruses, and the ensemble is as follows:

DELIVERED BRILLIANT ADDRESS ON DANTE

Dr. Bruno Roselli, native of Florence, Italy, and professor of romance language at Vassar college, delivered a brilliant address on Dante before the Middlesex Women's club, yesterday afternoon. The address was in recognition of the 600th anniversary of the death of the Italian poet, and was received with warm appreciation by the club members and guests.

Dr. Roselli, who was a speaker at the commencement exercises at Rogers Hall school last June, praised the spirit of the 13th students of American colleges and universities who went last summer to place a bronze tablet on the Dante tomb.

"We stand on a common footing now with other European powers," he said, speaking of Italy's place on the map of achievement. "We are able to stand upon our own feet. Six hundred years ago Dante foresaw the separation of church and state." He declared that Italy had lived on the memory of Dante for centuries. The great poet actually lived ahead of his time. In closing his address, the professor said:

"It is my wish that Dante should come to America not as a reward for a certain number of votes in a given town, not because of political pull, but because America needs the message which Dante can bring. Because of this chaotic condition of religion that prevails, it would not be a bad idea to bring to it the theory of Dante, of morality per se."

Haslin, Bernard, Finnegan, Helen Campbell, Margaret Wynn, Raymond Lewis, Louis Lalonde, Everett White, John Chahoda, Ernest Kelly, John Kelly, Wendell Rice, Teddy Anderson, Marion Droney.

Spirits of Memory—Dorothy Young, Billie Mhuca, Annabelle Moughan, Bernice Wood, Kathalyn Sullivan, Anna Egan, Armandine Lalonde, Marie Lalonde, Laura Edmunds, Alice O'Brien, Dorothy Ryan, Georgianna Lalonde.

Minister of Transportation Quits British Cabinet

LONDON, Oct. 18. (By Associated Press).—Sir Eric Geddes, minister of transportation in the British cabinet, has tendered his resignation from that office. It was learned yesterday. The resignation of Sir Eric has no great political significance. It had been understood that he would give up his portfolio this autumn, after having piloted the railway bill through parliament.

It is expected that Sir Eric will go back to commercial life. He still remains chairman of the economy committee which is advising the government in retrenchment matters.

MEMORIAL SERVICES

FOR EDITH CAVELL

Memorial services in honor of Edith Cavell, the English nurse shot by the Germans, were held by the British-American Social club in St. Anne's church Sunday evening. Fully 250 members of the organization besides many others who wished to participate in the ceremonies, marched to the church from the Kirk street parish house, the American and British colors leading the procession. In his eulogy of Miss Cavell, Rev. Mr. Graham said the English nurse deserves a place high in the ranks of heroines of the world war. He traced in detail her work in the great struggle, her capture by the enemy and the many occurrences that finally led to her execution. The clergyman referred to the monument recently erected in her honor in Brussels as one of the finest tributes given to any hero or heroine of the war. Since its organization in 1911, it has been the practice of the British-American Social club to hold memorial services for some heroic figure of the world war.

ARE YOU DULL, ACHY— "ALL OUT OF SORTS?"

DON'T let that dull, constant backache discourage you. Worry will only make it worse. The sensible plan is to find the cause and correct it. That aching backache may be a friend after all. It may be Nature's way of warning you that all is not right with your kidneys.

When the kidneys fall behind, the blood becomes overloaded with uric acid and other poisons. You suffer daily backache, morning languor, starting, cutting pains, and a tired, weak, worn-out feeling. You feel nervous and depressed, your head aches; you are dizzy and annoyed by bladder irregularities.

You should be thankful for these early warnings. If heeded they may spare you some serious kidney sickness.

You want to be well, and the best way to get well is to give the weakened kidneys the help they need. Just take things easier for awhile, get plenty of fresh air, rest and sleep, avoid worry, and help the weakened kidneys with Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have helped thousands and should help you. Ask your neighbor!

THESE LOWELL PEOPLE SPEAK:

Mrs. Mary Bennett, 21 Franklin street, says: "My kidneys were weak and I felt very tired and nervous. I had terrible backaches, dizzy, nervous headaches made me miserable. My kidneys felt as if they were on fire. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they helped me. I feel much better now and my kidneys are in good order."

Q. A. Foster, city fireman, 29 Mill-lane street, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have proven their value to me at different times. My kidneys caused me a great deal of trouble, especially when I took cold or over-exerted. Every pains in my back and legs or do any lifting. The kidney secretions passed irregularly. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they relieved the aches and pains in my back and regulated my kidneys."

"Photoplay Greater Than Any Other Art"—Cecil DeMille

ELLEN PERCY. SHE'S STARRING BY FOX, BUT SO FAR HAS MADE NO FILM OF OUTSTANDING MERIT.

BY JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—One may disagree with Cecil DeMille's idea about the art of the screen since his butchery of "The Admirable Crichton" and "The Affairs of Anatol." However, one must agree that DeMille has certain definite ideas about his business, that he has given that business much serious thought which has resulted in many innovations now in common usage by all directors. So what he has to say of the art of the cinema is worth more than passing interest.

"Because it can and does embrace all the other arts, the motion picture is destined to be just as many times as great as there are separate arts," DeMille says. "The seven arts which go to make the motion picture are making it seven times as great as any of them. That is the artistic destiny of the screen."
DeMille outlines the usages of the seven arts in the making of photoplays as follows:
Drama: The photoplay is primarily dramatic entertainment. It has already developed a dramatic form as distinctive as that of which required several hundred years to develop for the stage.
Painting: The photoplay is also essential pictorial. It is in itself a picture and makes use of the art of painting to enhance its own beauty.
Architecture: It plays its part in the staging of photodrama. Before many years the screen will boast of a school of architecture and painting all its own.
Sculpture: It serves as an aid in scenic matters. Sculptors of merit are already engaged in modeling for the screen.
The Dance: It long ago found a place on the screen.
Music: Valuable accessory both during production and exhibition. It is valuable as an atmospheric aid to screen players. We may soon have scores composed expressly for each picture.
Aside from the art needs of the screen, the tremendous possibilities of the motion picture as a medium for carrying artistic ideas is attracting the great artists of the world," DeMille asserts. "Eventually the screen will claim the greatest artists in every line of endeavor."

I quite agree with DeMille about the screen eventually claiming the greatest artists in every line of endeavor. After one has become recognized as an artist, art is not performed for its sake alone. And the photoplay producers have greater resources to pay for art than others who offer markets to artists.

"Lady Godiva," Tennyson's poem, has been filmed in Europe, and will be exhibited in America. It probably was screened abroad because so many of our stars have bobbed hair. If you remember the story of the horseback ride the lady took, you'll gather what I mean.

Marshall Neilan advances the suggestion that the episodic picture, such as his recent "Bits of Life," will open the market for amateur scenario writers.

The amateur writer is usually able to evolve only enough action for a two-reel film, Neilan says, and thus a feature that would include several such stories would afford a writer's market and a novelty for screen audiences.

There is merit in Neilan's idea. There would be more merit to some of the feature plays written by professional scenario writers if they confined their stories to two reels.

which has been in conference with President Harding and the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington. The public members will reach Chicago late today.

No outline of what the conference would discuss was announced but it was said that new proposals would be presented to the labor men in an effort to prevent an actual cessation of work on the roads.

Pres. Lee's Statement

CLEVELAND, Oct. 15.—President Lee of the trainmen today issued a statement in which he asserted that "the brotherhood of railroad trainmen very reluctantly takes the position that it cannot longer agree to give service unless there is assurance that there will be no further wage reductions, nor attempt to eliminate working rules that have been secured through many years of collective bargaining and which represent only fair remuneration for extra service given."

After discussing the wages of trainmen in which he made comparison of wages paid in 1913 with those received now, Mr. Lee said: "The men have been asked to accept what is an inadequate living wage. They know the railways are taking unfair advantage of business depression to force them to accept unfair wages and service conditions. To state the matter briefly, they believe that the companies are going to continue their aggressive warfare against them until they force the men to strike. Therefore, they must reluctantly decide to accept the challenge now."

Mr. Lee's statement in part follows:

The wages of train and yard service employees were fixed in 1913 and were not changed, except in a very few minor instances, until January 1, 1915. Time and one-half for overtime was not allowed yard employees until April 10, 1915, and for road employees until December 1, 1915. The award of the United States railroad labor board, which fixed wages at the peak became effective May 1, 1920, while the wage reduction on which the present controversy hinges, became effective July 1, 1921. The further demands for the elimination of time and one-half for overtime, rules allowing extra pay for extra service performed, and further wage reductions were made following the award effective July 1, 1920.

"From 1913 through the period in which this country became commercially interested in the European war and until Jan. 1, 1918, transportation employees did not receive any advance in their daily or monthly wages. The enactment of the Adamson law which was declared constitutional March 15, 1917, did not increase the daily wage of the employees affected. That is, it did not increase either the daily or monthly wages of the men interested.

"For the purpose of clearness we offer for exhibit the wages of the through freight brakemen running into New York in 1913, whose wages were fixed by the arbitration of this board and which wage rate remained in full force and effect until Jan. 1, 1918. This is a typical wage earned by an employee whose class transports more than 90 per cent of the freight business of this country. This employee received in the eastern territory $2.67 for his normal day's work of 100 miles within 10 hours, or $30.10 for a 30 day month. With the increase of Jan. 1, 1918, he received approximately $1.04 additional, which made his daily rates $3.71 and his monthly wage for a 30 day month $111.30. Supplement No. 10, effective Jan. 1, 1919, brought his daily rate to $4.08, and his monthly wage for a 30 day month $122.40, and by the decision of the United States railroad labor board effective May 1, 1920, brought the daily rate of the through freight brakemen running into New York to $5.12, which multiplied by 30 days for the month, gave him a monthly wage of $153.60.

The wage decrease effective July 1, 1921, reduced the monthly rate to $124.00 for 30 days' service, on which amount he is expected to maintain himself and family decently and reasonably and he cannot do it as every one who is trying to maintain an American standard of living understands.

"This is an exhibit of a typical transportation wage increase.

"The wage quoted is a typical train service wage. Percentages of increases show that wages have been very much increased, but in money amounts they will not show so favorably. In fact, with the reduction of 12 per cent threatened abrogation of all schedule rules and further wage reductions the employee knows that it is impossible for him to live on the daily or monthly rates as proposed, unless he is willing to work at least a day and one-half in order to earn enough to live a day.

"Another source of aggravation to the employees which they bitterly resent, is the disposition of the railroads to take away from them all of the advantages that were secured through several years of collective bargaining. By agreement with the railroads special allowances were provided for special service. It is not the purpose of the railways to ask for the elimination of time and one-half for overtime, and there is no indication that they propose to restore what allowances were sacrificed when time and one-half was established. Regardless of popular opinion to the effect that all employees are worked

Drop in Marks Causes Run on Stores

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—The accelerated slump in the price of German marks has caused a run on stores in many parts of Germany by foreign buyers, who, despite the enhanced prices of most manufactured articles, are still able to purchase advantageously. The Swiss frontier, according to the Vorwaerts today, has been closed for across-the-border trading in textiles, as Swiss buyers have completely stripped the frontier towns around Baden of articles of apparel. It is also reported that the Swiss watch industry is almost paralyzed on account of the cheapness of German watches in consequence of the slump in German marks.

No Newspapers in Berlin Today

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—As a result of disputes between publishers and workers, no newspapers appeared in Berlin this morning with the exception of socialist and communist organs and two Pan-German publications.

On the eight hour basis in transportation service, the fact is that there is no eight hour day in train service except as a basis for fixing a normal day's work. Trainmen, both freight and passenger, do not go into overtime until they have used up the time allowance on the mileage of the run."

Spirited Controversy
CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Executive officials and general chairmen of a dozen unions of railroad employees, representing 1,500,000 workers, began arriving today for conference beginning tomorrow to determine whether they traversed over the attitude of the Big Five railroad brotherhoods in issuing a strike call.

A joint conference at the end of the week is in prospect. A spirited controversy over the attitude of the Big Five brotherhoods is indicated in the statements of the leaders outside the Big Five group.

The train dispatchers have declared they will not go out at this time, the telegraphers and clerks announced their decision was still unformed and others have indicated the question was still open although some of the unions, notably the shopmen and maintenance of way employees, have authorized a strike call by a referendum vote.

B. M. Jewell, president of the Railway Employees department of the American Federation of Labor, declared today he was still hopeful that a strike could be averted. The Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, freight handlers, express and station employees was the latest to issue a summons for a strike conference. Twenty-two grand officers and 200 general chairmen were called to meet here Sunday by President E. F. Fitzgerald.

To Lay Case Before Cabinet

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—President Harding was in position today to lay before his cabinet an analysis of the railroad strike situation, an outline of the government's position in the controversy and suggestions as to defensive measures to protect federal functions if and when the tieup becomes actual. In addition to a report submitted by the joint conference of the public group of the Railroad Labor board, and the Interstate Commerce Commission, Mr. Harding was understood to have the list of reports obtained by Attorney General Daugherty and Postmaster General Hays, after sur-

BIG EATERS GET

KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts at First Sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache

"The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead, your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night, if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders. Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage and is everywhere home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.—Adv.

FLY RAILROAD STRIKE

Against Government and Attempt to Nullify Act, Say Western Roads

CHICAGO, Oct. 18. (By Associated Press)—Presidents of the leading midwestern railroads in a joint statement last night turned down as "impossible" the proposal of the railroad labor board, public group, that freight rates be reduced immediately as a possible means of averting a general rail strike, and charged that the proposed walkout "would be a strike against the government, called by the unions primarily for the purpose of nullifying the transportation act creating the labor board."

The statement was signed in behalf of the association of railroads entering Chicago by Samuel Felton, president of the Chicago Great Western.

By coincidence the statement, which reviews the railroad situation and the causes of the strike, was issued at almost the same moment as Warren S. Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, was giving out a statement in Cleveland telling why the Big Four Brotherhoods and the Switchmen's union of North America had authorized a walkout on Oct. 30.

Executive Statement

The railroad presidents' statement said in part:

"The thing it is proposed to strike against is the decision of the railroad labor board authorizing the reduction of 12 per cent. in wages which the railroads put into effect on July 1, 1921. There is at present no other possible ground for a strike by the railway brotherhoods."

"The wage reduction put into effect July 1 was authorized by the railroad labor board. Therefore, the strike, if it occurs, will be against a decision made by a government body acting in accordance with a federal law."

"While the railroads complied with the decision in 1920 for an advance in wages, the labor brotherhoods now propose to defy the law and strike rather than accept a much smaller reduction in wages."

"The railway executives decided to ask the railroad labor board for a further reduction in wages and to give the public in the form of reductions in rates all the benefits any further reduction in wages granted. This, however, afforded the brotherhoods no reason for ordering a strike. The strike vote was taken on the question of accepting the wage reduction already authorized by the labor board, not on the question of a future reduction."

Deny Right to Strike

"The railway employees have no more legal right to strike against it than the railroads would have had to refuse to grant the advance in wages authorized in 1920 by the labor board."

Concerning the labor board public group proposal to cut rates immediately, the statement said:

"In asking for a further reduction in wages in order that they may be able to grant the public reductions in rates, the railroads are acting only in accordance with the laws and in obedience to an insistent public demand that they shall create conditions which will enable them to reduce rates."

"A general reduction in rates without a further reduction in wages would be ruinous to many railroads. Thus far in the year 1921 the railroads have earned a net return of only 2.6 per cent., and, although the net earnings have increased recently owing largely to the recent reduction in wages, a general reduction of rates without a further reduction in wages would put the railroads back in a very precarious position financially."

EXTENSION CLASSES

BY THE M. T. I.

The extension classes which are to be conducted by the Matthew Temperance institute during the coming winter are scheduled to start at an early date, and it is important that all who wish to enter any of these classes should attend to their registration by tonight. The regular society meeting, at which several matters of importance are to be brought up, will take place at 8 o'clock and after the meeting the literary committee and instructor Charles D. Foley wish to meet all who intend to do any class work this winter.

LOWELL TEXTILE EXHIBIT

The Lowell Community Service Textile exhibit is now in position at the city library. The exhibit consists of a great display of the textile wares manufactured by the mills of Lowell and its vicinity. Much credit is due to Miss Helene R. Abels, who was instrumental in bringing about the display. The exhibit was at first shown at the Community Service rooms but was changed to the library in order that more people might view it. It consists of 300 cards containing samples from the different mills. All kinds of cloths are contained in the showing. This should be of especial interest to the students at the Textile school and to the students of the high school. It will be shown until the first of November. The following mills have contributed to the showing: The Appleton, the Hamilton, the Economy Rug Co., the U. S. Hunting, the Beaver Brook mills, the Day State Cotton Corp., the Talbot mills, the Lyon Carpet Co., Lowell Narrow Fabric Co., the Tremont & Suffolk mills, the Lowell Bleachery, the Mass Cotton mills, the Merrimack Woolen Corp., the Lowell Felt Co., and the Shawmut Stocking Co.

Would Reduce Size of British Army

LONDON, Oct. 18.—Reduction of the size of the British army and a cutting down of the Household Cavalry by one-third is recommended in a report by a committee of business men appointed to examine the expenditures of the war office. The committee, however, urges that British troops be retained in Mesopotamia, says the Daily Sketch. The Household Cavalry includes the Life Guards and Horse Guards, gorgeously uniformed horsemen who attended members of the royal family at state functions.

"Mr. Zero" Flays City of Washington

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—"A city without a civic conscience" was the appellation bestowed upon the national capital today by Urban Ledoux, self-elected shepherd for a group of unemployed. The population of Washington, he declared, was composed principally of "leaders who come to take rather than give." His latest blow, he explained, was the refusal of the local authorities to renew a permit for a public meeting through which he had hoped to obtain funds. Ledoux said that as a last resort only, he intended to repeat in Washington the auction of unemployed.

YOUTHFUL EXPLORER
BACK FROM ARCTIC

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 18.—Captain Harold Nole, known as one of the youngest of the sub-polar explorers, is shortly to return to his home after six years of exploration and adventure along the Arctic coasts of Alaska and Canada, according to a cablegram received from him from Teller, Alaska, recently.

The cablegram told of his arrival at Teller on the Hudson Bay company steamer, Lady Kindersley, which had picked him up at Three Rivers, 1500 miles of Herschel Island, whence he had traveled after charting a large section of the coast of Victoria land.

In March, 1915, Nole, then only 19 years old, joined Capt. Louis Lane in his famous Arctic trading expedition on the power schooner, Polar Bear. He expected to be back in Seattle within a few months. Instead he remained six years in the north.

During the summer of 1915 the Polar Bear cruised eastward along the Arctic coast, trading furs and searching for Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the explorer, who had been missing in the Arctic for more than two years. Finally Lane found Stefansson and Nole joined the latter's expedition as record-keeper and map-maker. He remained with Stefansson three years.

When the expedition began the return to civilization in 1918, Nole purchased an old trading schooner and began in earnest the career of an explorer. During the last three years, according to the meagre news that has found its way south, he has explored hitherto untouched shores of the northwest passage as well as the Victoria land coast. Last summer, according to a letter to his parents, he was engaged in the penetration of the Victoria land interior. At the same time his parents learned he was completing the work on a dictionary of the Eskimo languages, said to be the first of its kind ever compiled.

VETERAN TELEGRAPHERS IN ANNUAL MEETING

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 18.—The Old-Time Telegraphers' and Historical Association will hold its annual meeting here today, October 18, 19 and 20. The association, which numbers among its members Thomas A. Edison, and of which the late Andrew Carnegie was a member, is a nation-wide organization, composed of telegraph operators of the old school, some of the members having been in the business of manipulating the key much more than a half century ago, and all of them having had an experience of at least a quarter of a century.

Among the 120 members there are numbered men of diversified ability, prominent in the higher walks of life—lawyers, doctors, captains of industry and finance, and in official life. Quite a number of prominent railroad officials are on the roll of membership and not a few of them will attend the annual convention this year. The association has one unique regulation—the officers elected for one year at a time are always selected from the membership residing in the city or community in which the forthcoming annual meeting is to be held. Gen. Joe Lane Stern of this city is the president for this year and will preside at the meeting to be held in October.

When he was not quite 12 years of age and was with his mother and father on the farm at Chesterfield Station, now called Ruther's Glenn, in Hanover county, the confederate government established a telegraph office there, and the operators placed in charge found board and lodging in the home of the Stern family. These operators took a fancy to young Joe and he took a wonderful fancy to the telegraph instruments and in an incredibly short time became a good operator. He made quite a hit when, one Sunday in the spring of 1862 in the temporary absence of the regular operator he "went in" on the wires and reported the doings of federal raiders. Soon afterwards the young telegrapher was taken into the confederate regular service.

LOWELL DELEGATES TO STATE CONVENTION

Determined to re-elect Officer Edward F. Plamondon to the executive committee and to make a decided effort to bring next year's convention to this city, the Lowell delegates to the state convention of the Massachusetts Police association will leave for Fall River Wednesday morning. The convention, a two-day session, opens at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The representatives of the local force who have been chosen to make the trip are Sergeant Hugh Maguire, Officers Clyde, Arthur, Morris, Shapira, Timothy O'Connor, James Constance and Jeremiah Cullen. They will go to Fall River by automobile, leaving Lowell early enough to enable them to be on hand at the opening of the first day's session.

As Lowell received encouraging consideration from the delegates at the past two or three conventions, the local branch of the association feels confident that this city will be accepted for next year's gathering.

MORE CIGARS BUT FEWER CIGARETTES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—A billion more cigars, almost two billions fewer cigarettes and 14,000,000 pounds less of manufactured tobacco were produced during 1920 than during 1919, census bureau statistics compiled from internal revenue reports show.

Pennsylvania leads in the manufacture of large and small cigars, producing more than one-quarter of the total which was 8,937,792 large cigars and 642,640,900 small cigars in 1920.

North Carolina leads in the production of small cigars, producing more than half of the country's total output, which was 51,192,762,708.

New York leads in production of large cigars, producing almost 27 per cent of the country's total of 41,031,217.

North Carolina leads in production of smoking tobacco, producing more than one-quarter of the 228,566,535 pounds manufactured in 1919.

Missouri leads in the production of pipe tobacco producing 41 per cent of the 141,037,895 pounds manufactured in 1919, and also leads in production of twist of which 11,290,453 pounds were manufactured in 1919.

Illinois leads in the production of fine cut tobacco producing more than 35 per cent of the country's total of 8,153,555 pounds.

Tennessee leads in production of snuff, producing more than 41 per cent of the country's total production of 35,097,552 pounds.

ONCE UPON A TIME
THERE WERE NO DOCTORS!

The Doctor Was Not Much Needed Until Folks Began to Break Nature's Laws.

Doctors Preach Prevention Is Better Than Cure.

Ninety per cent of all disease is preventable, so doctors say. Eat simple food, exercise wisely, sleep sufficiently, and—what is vitally important—make sure of the daily, regular, thorough elimination of body waste, and the chances are nine to one that you will keep well, work efficiently and enjoy life. Bowel elimination of food and tissue waste is all-important. But in case of irregularity, disordered or imperfect action do not make the common mistake of taking harsh, violently acting medicines, with the idea of forcing the bowels to act. Nature believes in mild methods. She responds best to persuasion.

So in selecting a simple remedy to regulate and assure proper bowel action, you should not use harsh or violently acting remedies, no matter how much has been claimed for them. You should choose some well-known, time tested, trial proven remedy, that has made its reputation by being used for many years, by all sorts of people, all over the world. Take Beecham's Pills for example. Beecham's is a household word, has been for many generations. Beecham's Pills is household remedy, has been for over half a century. People not only take Beecham's but recommend Beecham's to their friends. Their use is handed down from father to son or from mother to daughter, from one generation to another. Did you ever hear any complaint or criticism of Beecham's? Isn't that a pretty powerful endorsement of their worth? Druggists are glad to sell Beecham's.

PLAN "PERFECT
PACKAGE MONTH"

A nation-wide "perfect package" movement will be conducted by the railroads, steamship lines and the express carriers of the United States and Canada during November, which will be known as "Perfect Package Month." The shipping public of this city will be asked to co-operate in the campaign.

An announcement to this effect was made today by a joint committee of local transportation men, composed of E. W. Brown, general agent, representing the Boston & Maine railroad, and C. P. Langley, agent of the American Railway Express company. This committee has taken the matter up with the city chamber of commerce and arrangements have been completed to enable the shippers of this city to make a good showing in the movement.

The purpose of "Perfect Package Month" is to enable the carriers to aid shippers in their packing problems.

and to help improve the transportation service of the country.

During November the railroads, steamship lines and the express companies will examine the condition of all freight and express shipments and record the faults of shipments, which do not come up to the general classification of "perfect packages."

Special report blanks for freight and express will be made out for every shipment that is found wanting in some detail of good shipping, and these reports will be sent to the shippers of the packages. A summary of all exceptions found during November will be submitted to the city chamber of commerce, for examination and tabulation.

At the conclusion of the movement, the record of each city during "Perfect Package Month" will be tabulated and published broadcast. The leading city will be exploited, because of its perfection in shipping methods.

Considerable rivalry has been aroused among traffic organizations which have determined to make their city the leader of "Perfect Package Month."

November was selected for the campaign, as the carriers are in a position where they can give more careful examination of passing traffic, and could, in fact, handle at least 25 per cent more business.

Every city or town throughout the United States and Canada that ships by rail or water will be informed of these plans and be asked to aid in carrying them out. The entire working organization of all of the railroads and express companies are also to be enlisted in the campaign, comprising a force of nearly 2,000,000 men.

CASES IN THE SUPERIOR COURT

At the opening of this morning's session of the superior court a jury was empaneled in the case of James M. Harris vs. Doris Chase and James M. Harris vs. Albert E. Brooks, actions of tort by which the plaintiff is seeking to recover damages for personal injuries. It is claimed by the plaintiff that on May 30, 1920, while he was operating his motorcycle on the Nashua road in Chelmsford, he was struck by an automobile owned by Albert E. Brooks and operated by Doris Chase, and as a result he received serious injuries to his legs. After the jury was empaneled a view of the scene of the accident was taken and this afternoon the case went to trial.

The case of Francis C. George vs. George Scannell, an action of tort by which the plaintiff seeks to recover for alleged personal injuries, which he claims he received when the vehicle upon which he was riding, was struck by an automobile operated by the defendant and which went to trial at the civil session of the superior court yesterday morning, was brought to a close this noon when Judge Bishop charged the jury. The act damages in this case is $15,000.

FAIL TO DETERMINE
CAUSE OF DEATH

A continued investigation of the circumstances that caused the death of four-year-old Thomas Boyce, of Sayles street, who was found in a dying condition on Middlesex street near Foster Saturday evening and died shortly after, has failed to reveal any information that could lead the authorities to solve the mystery as to how the child met his fatal injuries.

Medical Examiner Dr. Thomas B. Smith states that he is making a thorough investigation with the assistance of the police, but is unable to locate anyone who can shed light on the mystery. It is the medical examiner's opinion that the child probably was struck by a vehicle.

GERMAN CABINET
PLANS TO RESIGN

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—Dr. Joseph Wirth, German chancellor, was believed here today to be preparing to submit the resignation of his ministry to President Ebert. Official announcement of the decision of the Council of the League of Nations relative to the partition of Upper Silesia, was expected momentarily and it was thought the cabinet could not long survive if the official text confirmed the press despatches giving details of the action of the council.

Extraordinary scenes followed the reopening of the house yesterday. Bankers and brokers were swamped with orders, and had great difficulty in establishing quotations. Foreign exchange rates soared to new heights, offerings being so scarce and the demand so overwhelming that buyers were allotted only a portion of the lots they desired. Those who were purchasing dollars were allotted 50 per cent. of their orders.

Asks Change of Venue

against him he transferred to the superior court.

The change of venue was asked on the ground that the five justices of the supreme court who heard the evidence upon which Nathan A. Tufts, district attorney of Middlesex county, was removed from office recently, have already formed an opinion in regard to two of the cases cited in the charges against Coakley. These cases were among those on which Tufts was tried.

William J. Corcoran, former district attorney of Middlesex county, another of the attorneys named in the proceedings, sent a communication saying that at the time the proceedings were instituted, he was a resident of New York. He asked the right to resign as a member of the Massachusetts bar.

The third attorney involved, Daniel V. McInerney, was present in court with Coakley. Judge Bracy ordered them to file their answers by Nov. 7 at which time he said he would consider Coakley's motion, Corcoran's disclaimer and the question whether the cases would be tried together.

MILL EMPLOYEES
PLAN BIG AFFAIR

The big cabaret and dance under the auspices of the Women's Industrial and Social club and the Men's Athletic club of the Massachusetts mills, which will be held in the club rooms Friday evening, will be one of the biggest events of its kind ever held in this city. At least that is what the committee says.

Thomas Groulx, who so successfully managed the minstrel show recently given in the rooms of the club, is in charge of the entertainment and he has secured the services of the following local talent, who are all well known in musical circles: The Emerson Four, Frank Kelly, James Deigan, "Maestro" Maguire, "Tip" Handley, Eddie Donahue, George Lynch, Henry Carufel, J. C. Gouin and "Art" Forrest. The committee in charge of the affair consists of the following: Men's club—J. Cheswick, J. Hurst, E. Hart, Women's club—Miss Ann Taylor, Miss Nora Cryan, Mrs. E. Ellis, Miss M. Cassidy and Mrs. D. White.

Big Vote Looked For

booths or outside the buildings waiting to get in. Few women rode to the polling places, most of them walking from their homes.

At noon the indications were that a splendid vote would be recorded in most of the precincts. Some election officials predicted a vote of 15,000, but others believe that 15,000 would be a better figure when preliminary totals.

The paving contract election, August 9, brought out 10,000 voters. The election last week on the gas proposition showed 13,341 voters.

Ballots were cast early at the Market street polling place, precinct 1, ward 1. The toll was 104 at 11:30 o'clock; 10 women had voted. There were more voters around this polling place than was the case a week ago. Warden Daniel J. McCaffrey said he looked for as good a vote before 6 o'clock as that recorded at the "paving" by contract.

"There is more interest being shown in today's ballot," he said. "More voters are turning out, and there is more discussion of the merits of the question."

Fifty-three had voted at 10:30 o'clock in precinct 2, ward 2, with more than 20 women checked.

It looks "like a 300 vote" in that precinct, the warden said. Early voting was the rule, with 32 votes cast before 8 o'clock. There are 452 voters listed. The vote at the last election was 211. Patrolman John Burns was on duty here, keeping the doors closed and the booth warm.

Precinct 3, ward 2, down in the "gas district," was popular with women voters, 50 voting before 11 o'clock, against a total of 78 male voters. Women walked down the streets and entered the booths without engaging in conversation with anyone. They were fine examples of sincere voters anxious to register their sentiments without ostentation.

The vote was really heavy in this precinct, with 123 voting before 11 o'clock against a total of only 67 last week. Precinct Officer John Flynn predicted a big vote from this precinct.

He said the voters were "talking more about the charter than they ever did before."

Over in precinct 1, ward 7, 174 votes were cast before 10:30. The normal vote is around 900, and the voters never come out in large numbers much before 5 o'clock. Interest in Pawtucketville was not very lively this morning, and few women were voting up to noon time. The warden said an average vote would come along later.

In precinct 2, ward 7, twenty women voted before 10 a. m., and more than 100 male voters dropped their ballots into the machine. Several women were voting when The Sun man called. They had no trouble marking ballots quickly and depositing them without comment.

"They are the best voters we have," remarked a precinct officer. Patrolman Noonan said the ladies were on hand about as early as anyone, and he looked for a 50-50 vote.

Ward 6 expects as good a vote as that recorded at the "contract labor" election. In precinct 1, there was an excellent early vote. Eighteen ballots were dropped into the box within a few minutes after the polls were opened. At 11 a. m., the total was 123, a normal vote in this precinct would be about 1500. This is one of the so-called "car shop precincts," and more voters turn out after 4:30 p. m. than before. Precinct officials said.

lots cast just before noon. Twenty-five women voted. This vote is an indication of the feeling of a majority of the electors, for up to noon last week, only a few more than 60 percent, male and female, had voted.
There is twice the interest shown today, according to ward 3 officials.
Warden Gierow said the polling place was filled during the first two hours, early voters being numerous.

As this is a school building, Patrolman Jack Leahy, on duty at this polling place, was busier than some other police in the outlying districts.
The voters and school children marched through the front doors together.

In precinct 3, ward 3, the morning figures were 215, with more women voting than last time. The late afternoon is the popular period for the female ballot casters, the officials said. Patrolman Hill was on deck here as usual, and providing every one with general information.

More than 50 per cent of the morning votes cast in precinct 1, ward 8, were placed in the boxes by women voters. There was a total of 213 at 11
a. m. Yet the officials called it a "slow day." The average vote here is around 1200. There are 1565 registered. Officials look for a 1500 ballot with a late rush to check in.

Voters out Chelmsford st. way are doing well. In precinct 2, ward 3, 115 votes had been dropped before 11 a. m., a far better showing than last time.
Many women are voting here, possibly 50 more than last week, the officials said. A late vote is looked for here, too.

Precinct 2, ward 1, Elm street, was a busy place all the morning; total 133, far better figures than was the case a week ago. Clerk Ralph J.
Harvey predicted a record. The breaker in this precinct, he said, the total was but 50 last week before 11 o'clock, and the afternoon voting here is always heavy when the ballot is interesting.

In ward 6, precinct 2, five women had voted and 78 men up to 11 o'clock. It was somewhat small, but a better record than last time.

Precinct 3, ward 3, officials liked the looks of things in the voting line.
Thirty women voted before 10 o'clock, and several were coming down the street right afterward. The total at 10:30 was 135, both sexes. Last week at this time only 90 voted. Officials predicted a "more than normal vote."

Warden Frank Brennan was on deck here, and John Hesley in charge of the ballot box. They said the voting was brisk for a special election.

Precinct 1, ward 5, reported 61 ballots cast, few women voting. Early votes expect to register about 200 votes here, only a normal amount.

Precinct 2, ward 3, announced 253
votes just before noon, with voting slow. There appeared to be few women voters anxious to go to the ballot box in the morning, but election officers predicted a real "tidal wave" of femininity before 6 o'clock.
Numerous women workers vote about that time, or between 5 and 6.

Automobiles were employed in this ward aiding voters who could not walk to the polls. Patrolman William F.
Murphy looked after all police arrangements in good shape.

Centerville voters were doing fine around noon, with a total of 197 registered ballots in precinct 2, ward 1, at noon. Fifty-one women had voted by that time. The voters were coming along later at about an average of 40 an hour, officials said. The vote was 20 per cent larger than last week's election figures.

Precinct 3, ward 1, announced 235 ballots dropped at 11:30. Half of the number were marked by women voters, it was said. The latter never turned out so heavily in the morning.
The Sun men were told.

The other precincts of the city reported voting as "better than last time." Precinct 1, ward 2, figures were 16 at 11, 10 women voting there early.
Warren Queenan and Patrolman Mc-Greedy and Conroy were looking after the booth in fine shape and answering all questions shot at them by anxious voters and newspapermen.

Precinct 3, ward 6, voters showed much more interest in today's ballot, 126 voting before 11:30. There were 1280 names on the lists here, and it is expected that more than 900 will vote today. Michael Sullivan, consti-table, a rather light vote up to noon, but said the afternoon rush might even up matters, although the voters were discussing the charter question more this morning than ever before, he believed.

Central Bridge Question

proved of the Scannell Boiler works as sub-contractors.

Mr. Wier said it was not a matter of law, but one of morals and policy by the city. Mr. Regan then said he wished the moral side left out of the discussion as lawyers were not generally considered as being over-endowed with morals.

This was the result of the discussion of Section 21 of the specifications of the contract which said the construction company was not to let out a sub contract without the written consent and approval of the municipal council.

Mr. Wier then said he understood the sub committee which was appointed to look after the work on the bridge had met and after a discussion had voted 2 to 1 against the construction company.

Mr. Regan said this was not so and that the vote he submitted was but a rough one and that the committee had not yet considered it. Mr.
Wier claimed a clause which was inserted in Mr. Regan's vote would take away the legal right of the construction company even if the matter were brought to court and decided in favor of the company. It was here he accused Mr. Regan of attempting to get a straight hold on the company.

Murphy Makes Statement

The sub committee on the bridge work is composed of Mr. Regan, City Engineer Kearney and Commissioner Murphy. Mr. Murphy addressed the council and made it plain just which member of the committee had cast a vote in favor of the company.

He said he had sat in on a few conferences, but was finally swung over to the construction company side by a letter which explained matters. He said he favored the vote as submitted by Mr. Wier inasmuch as the city should do what was right by the company. He said he did not think any judge or whoever the case happened to come before in case it went to the courts, would consider it a case of such a nature as Mr.
Regan was trying to guard against.

Mr. Regan said he was not so sure and asked Mr. Murphy if he understood his (Regan's) vote as submitted. He again laid stress on the fact his vote was only a rough one.

Mayor Thompson interfered and said he was not sure on all points involved but it seemed that Messrs. Regan and Wier were at odds over a certain part of both votes. The mayor then suggested that the parties get together and attempt to reach an agreement. But Mr. Wier said: "Mr.

Regan and I cannot reach an agreement; we are—well," here Mr. Regan put the words into his mouth by saying, "We have come to the parting of the ways on this subject."

The mayor said in that case he thought the council members should have more time to talk the thing over, and to become more conversant with the topic. He said he could not vote in favor of anything Mr. Wier had to offer when the city solicitor, who was paid by the city to guide the council in legal affairs, and the city engineer, a man supposed to be an expert in his line, refused to sanction Mr. Wier's vote.

Mayor Offers Questions

The mayor said he would offer two questions to the council. The first would be "Shall we consider this question at this time and pass judgment on it?" The second came on the account of one of the two votes as submitted. The second question never came up for the first was defeated in the following order: Salmon, yes; Donnelly, no; Marchand, no; Murphy,
yes; Mayor Thompson, no.

The matter was then tabled until next week. In the meantime Mr. Regan and Mr. Wier will talk the matter over and Mr. Regan will have a more complete vote ready to submit.

Petition Hearings

A hearing on the petition of the New England Telephone and Telegraph company to erect a pole on Chatham street, was opened. Patrick Bogers appeared for the company and explained it was to furnish service for Mrs. Elizabeth Rogers, 22 Cedar street, appeared in opposition. She claimed she was a property owner on that street and at the present the street was too narrow to permit more poles. She claimed it was hardly wide enough to pass through owing to the presence of the poles there now.

The matter was referred to the streets and highway commission.

The removal of a pole on Dutton street and the relocation of a pole opposite 329 Lakeview avenue by the same company was referred to the streets and highway commission.

The petition of Seattle Cassidy for a garage license at 13 Maple street was read. A hearing was ordered for November 8.

Hearings were set for November
1 on petitions of the New England
Tel. and Tel. company for one pole on Bartlett street and two poles on Pine street.

The petition of George E. Mongeau for a granite sidewalk at the corner of Merrimack and Dutton streets was referred to Commissioner Murphy's department.

The jury list was submitted by the elections commission and accepted.

An order for a gas light on Chatham street near No. 24 was rescinded. An order for an incandescent light in the same location was adopted.

An order was adopted authorizing the payment of $15.00 to John H. Clancy, 55 Gershom avenue for damages to his hot water boiler caused when some city employee shut off the water without notification. Mr. Regan agreed to a settlement with Mr. Clancy.

A bill from Sullivan Brothers of $54.12 for printing, approved by the commissioner of finance, was ordered paid.

A claim of Marietta A. Hubin, 23
Bunkerhill street, against the city for $500 for personal injuries she alleges to have obtained from an alleged fall on Lakeview avenue on Oct. 3, was referred to Mayor Thompson and Mr.

Regan. A letter accompanied the claim, was but not read owing to its extreme length.

SHE FELT WEAK AND TIRED ALL THE TIMENINE POUNDS TAKING TANLAC AND SAYS HEALTH IS PERFECT

"I just want to give a little history of my case and let my friends and everybody else know what a blessing Tanlac has been to me," declared
Mrs. Leonie Dupuy, who resides on Berkshire road, Pittsfield, Mass.

"I certainly did suffer from stomach trouble before taking Tanlac and I kept losing weight and strength until I was in an awful rundown condition.
I don't know how many different medicines I tried but I kept getting worse all the time. Everything I ate seemed to sour in my stomach and I had such awful attacks of indigestion they would almost kill me at times. I had splitting headaches, too, and such frightful dizzy spells everything seemed to be going around in a circle. I was so nervous that my sleep was broken and restless, and I felt weak and worn out all the time."

"I knew Tanlac was helping me before I finished my very first bottle, a few bottles of the medicine have restored me to perfect health and built me up nine pounds in weight besides.
I relish all my meals, never feel a sign of indigestion, or have an ache or pain of any kind. My nerves are in such good condition that my sleep is sound and refreshing, and that tired, worn-out feeling has entirely disappeared.
Tanlac has taught me health, strength and happiness and I hope my statement will be of benefit in helping other people to learn of this wonderful medicine."

THE RAILROAD STRIKE

It is confidently expected that President Harding and the Railroad Labor board will succeed in averting the threatened railroad strike which at this time would be something in the nature of a calamity to the entire country. It would not, however, entail the suffering that such a strike would have brought some ten or fifteen years ago, for the reason that the motor truck is almost in the land and is already a very active instrumentality in the transportation of freight. Every large city has much of its freight haulage and inward and outward by motor trucks. The supports would of course depend largely upon the shipping interests to care for them during a railroad strike.

There is much difference of opinion in reference to where the responsibility should be placed for the threatened strike. In some quarters the unions are saddled with the entire blame. We do not see it in that light. The Railroad Labor board reduced the wages of the railroad employees 12 per cent. operative from the first of July last. The unions were not quite satisfied with that cut, although they did not peremptorily reject it. The fact, however, that the railroads did not make any reductions in rates, led the unions to withhold the acceptance of that reduction, and accordingly when a number of the railroad executives decided to ask another reduction in wages, which would be passed to the consumers in lower freight rates, the railroad men began to complain and very naturally so, when it appeared that the railroads, if any, would have to come out of the wages of the employees. Hence the threat to strike is now to be put into effect unless called off.

It is understood now that a compromise is proposed, having for its object the acceptance of the 12 per cent. cut by the men on condition that the roads will offer a reduction in rates equal to the saving in wages resulting from that reduction. The Labor board would thereafter deal with wage reductions in a manner that would seem to be equitable and warranted by the prevailing cost of living.

The Esch-Cummings law provides that railroad disputes of this kind shall be referred to a federal tribunal representing the roads, the workers and the public. A strike against a decision of the labor board as proposed, would, therefore, be a declaration by the unions that they are not ready to accept the provisions of that law or rather that they set it at defiance.

In this railroad controversy the general public has a primary interest in the continued service of the railroads and it is incumbent upon the government authorities at Washington to see that some settlement be made if the parties concerned are willing to agree upon any compromise measure.

If the unions defy the law, they will find that their power will soon be broken, and they will lose in the end, whereas by submitting to a reasonable compromise, they can attain much better terms than they will ever get by a strike. The country is not in a mood to tolerate a great railroad strike at the present time, and although the threat is made, we do not believe the unions will be so rash as to carry it into effect.

CITY CHARTERS

Like others, we favored the adoption of the city charter now in force under the assumption that business men could secure election and give the city the benefit of their judgment, experience and ability to direct large affairs. We freely admit that in this, we were wholly mistaken as we find that men who make a business of politics capture most of the places and that the average business man is completely shut out. The commission charter became popular because of what a small body of business men did for the city of Galveston after the tidal wave disaster; but they were the leading men of the city.

If we could select five of the leading business men of Lowell to serve as commissioners there would be little reason to change the charter, although the system is wrong in principle; but the politicians have made it impossible to elect business men, and they have used the municipal departments to perpetuate themselves in office. That is why a change is needed; why the hopes of the citizens in adopting the present charter in 1911 have been blasted.

What we need now, we heretofore, is a charter that will make it possible to elect business men to the city council despite the opposition of the politicians. Two features of the proposed charter are calculated to attain that end. They are equal representation and a reduction in the salary of commissioners from $2500 to $1500.

Moreover, the fact that nearly all the city departments have been political machines offers another reason for wishing a change. Our form of city government, judging from the few men elected to office under this charter, is fast becoming a political machinery which the people cannot dislodge.

THE BIG LIBEL SUIT

That libel suit for $100,000 which was brought against the Lowell Sun by Judge Fisher, the parties have been dropped out of court.

The judge in deciding that there was no ground for a suit against a few individuals, pointed out that while there are laws against libel, no one can be held responsible for libel unless he has made a statement which is libelous in fact. The judge said that if the press loses their form.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

From the Central street merchants come numerous complaints relative to the new city ordinance, which does not allow parking in Central street from Market street to Third street. The merchants do not object so much to autos not being allowed to park, but they feel that much more should be allowed to stop a few minutes as is the case in the Merrimack street district. One business man of the district states that since the ordinance has been in effect a decrease has been noted in business in that part of the city. Another, who formerly did his trading at Central street, has shifted their buying to parts of the city where they can stop their cars without breaking the law, it is said.

It is rumored that there is a movement on foot among the Central street merchants to present a petition to the city council requesting that automobiles be allowed to park in their district for brief periods, as in other business centres. Some of the business men claim they are being discriminated against and they will insist that the traffic rules be amended.

In walking through the local Greek colony, one's interest is aroused by the great number of live fowl displayed in wire pens outside the numerous markets. Our Italian neighbors must be extremely partial to chicken diet, for the fact that they prefer to buy their fowl "on the hoof" shows that they do not intend to contribute much to the support of the cold storage concerns.

With costs of building material so high, it is surprising that there should be so much construction work going on in the Greek district. True, most of the work in progress is remodeling rather than new construction, but there is one building at the corner of Market and Jefferson streets which promises to be particularly attractive when finished. A few more buildings of this type would make a decided improvement in the general appearance of the district.

With all the talk of unemployment which one hears at the present time, the public dance halls are prospering to a surprising degree. On Monday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights the dance halls are thronged with young people who seem to worry not at all about unemployment—or, in fact, anything more important than the latest jazz steps. Times may be hard and money hard to get, but the dancers seem to manage to find enough ready cash to indulge in their favorite pastime.

Yesterday afternoon while walking up East Merrimack street I met some little children playing in the gutter. The little tots were clothed in rags and one of their number was barefooted. They had a pinched, half starved look in their faces and looked about half fed. Just as I reached them one of them shouted, "Look, there are some peanuts!" Immediately began a wild scramble for a few salted peanuts that lay in the gutter. These children seemed to me to be as needy as the starving children of Europe. It seems to me that charity should begin at home.

TO AID THE UNEMPLOYED

That is certainly a formidable committee appointed by Mayor Thompson to deal with the unemployment situation. It is not expected, of course, that this commission can inaugurate any public works or find employment right away for any great number; but it can do a great deal to get things moving in that direction in the near future. If that committee cannot help, we do not know of any other body in Lowell that can. The members are all influential in their respective lines, they are in touch with the industries of Lowell and they have the prestige that will enable them to do whatever may be possible to aid the unemployed.

PHONE TALK

A critic remarks that the United States is a very talkative nation since it has 200 telephone calls a year for every man, woman and child. That, however, is less than one a day.

Considering the great ease with which we can use the telephone, a convenience which has made all Americans neighbors, 200 phone calls a year for each inhabitant is almost the last word in silence. It doesn't seem to show up that way on phone bills, in communities that have metered service.

FOREST FIRES

If you saw a man throwing his money into the gutter, you would question his sanity. The late Coal Oil Johnny scattered $5 gold pieces in the streets. It was so unusual that he became the talk of the world.

Yet in the last five years, forest fires in the United States have burned over 56,455,000 acres, an area greater than Ohio and Pennsylvania. Most of these fires were preventable. It was another case of throwing money away in vast amounts or literally seeing it go up in smoke.

With a highway robbery on a Sabbath morning and a sensational murder last Wednesday—both crimes occurring in a thickly settled part of the town, close to the common—Littlen authorities are ready to declare the books closed.

Every strike club has a silver lining. The railroad crossing tenders have been notified that they must stick to their jobs to protect man and beast. And the railroad unions issued the orders, too.

The Poor Boob!

A homely young English chap, having his view obstructed by the headgear of the girl in front of him, ventured to protest. "See here, miss," he said, leaning over, "I want to look as well as you do." "O, do you?" she replied in a rich cockney accent. Then you'd better run 'ome and change your face.

Cure For Deafness

The young mother was worried over her youngster. "Sometimes I think there is something the matter with his ears," she said, "for he does not answer me when I speak to him and often he doesn't seem to understand that I've given him any directions. I wonder if I should take him to an ear specialist. The mother of four children, I've found just such deafness among my children," she said. "But I didn't let it worry me." "What did you do for it?" inquired the young mother anxiously. "Why, I just spanked 'em all round," was the reply. "And they heard beautifully for several months after that!"

Defending the Pup

Mr. Hindleton appeared at his neighbor's door evening in a towering rage and uttering fierce threats against his neighbor's dog, Pongo. Vainly the neighbor tried to explain that Pongo was only a puppy. "It belongs to Johnny," he said, "and it would break his heart if anything happened to it. I think, hopefully, that his manners will improve." "Manners?" repeated Hindleton. "I'm not complaining of its manners but its nature. After it had jumped all over me it hit the back of my leg." "That's as far as it can reach," broke in Johnny in a wounded tone. "You don't expect a little pup like that to bite a big man like you on the neck?"

TO DARKEN HAIR

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Attractiveness

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store, all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not stylish, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.—Adv.

Tells How to Darken Gray Hair With a Home-Made Mixture

Jessie Williams, the well known American actress, recently made the following statement about gray hair and how to darken it, with a home-made mixture:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will gradually darken gray, streaked or faded hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Bibo Compound, and 1 ounce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off."—Adv.

RIOT OVER SACCO AND VANZETTI IN ITALY

ROME, Oct. 18.—Demonstrations by radicals are occurring regularly in protest against the sentencing to death in the United States of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, the two Italians convicted last summer of murdering Frederick A. Parmenter, paymaster of a shoe plant at Braintree, Mass.

One person was injured in Rome and large numbers were arrested in conflicts between the radicals and police. Similar demonstrations were held at Genoa and Turin.

The Giornale D'Italia says: "These demonstrations against the United States follow what is presumed to be an unproved case of homicide and it is hoped for humanity and civilization that a retrial will be granted. We observe that there are unjust demonstrations against the ambassador."

Resume Irish Peace Conference Thursday

LONDON, Oct. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—The conference between Irish leaders and representatives of the British government will, it is expected in Sinn Fein quarters, be resumed Thursday. The interruption of the sessions after yesterday's meeting was due solely to the engagements of Mr. Lloyd George, the prime minister, in connection with the reopening of parliament. Meanwhile the committees of the conference composed of the other members, will hold sessions for the advancement of the conference's work. Several Irish experts have been summoned to London to advise the Sinn Fein delegates and draw up reports for the consideration of the conference.

A LARGE number of women's ailments are not surgical ones. Serious displacements or radical changes have not yet taken place.

A tiny part in a fine clock may become loose and cause the clock to gain or lose. If not attended to in time, the part may fall from its place and cause serious trouble. So it is with women's ailments, they start from simple causes; but if allowed to continue, produce serious conditions.

When the warning symptoms are first noted, take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve the present troublesome ailment, and to prevent the development of serious trouble.

When my daughter got married she was feeling miserable and I recommended your medicine. She is greatly improved in health and has a beautiful baby boy four months old. So you see this letter comes from the third generation and you may use it as you wish."—Mrs. R. M. GREENAWAY, 657 4th Ave., North Troy, N.Y.

I was too sick to do anything, was as thin as could be, and my complexion was yellow. Mother had used Lydia E. # K. K. K. HEAD AND CAMPBELL CLASH

Sharp Conflict Between Wizard and Chairman of House Rules Committee

Simmons Launches Attack Against the New York World

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—A sharp clash between William J. Simmons, Imperial Wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, and Chairman Campbell of the House rules committee, marked the reopening today of the wizard's examination when the Klan head touched on the question of his physical collapse last week.

Simmons declared that Assistant Attorney General Clegg remarked at the time "Union speech making. I've been expecting it all along."

"I was also told," Simmons added, "that Mr. Clegg and Chairman Campbell had said it was cheap theatricals, intended to create sympathy."

Chairman Campbell broke in with a bang on the table.

"If all the rest of your statement is as false as your statement about me it is utterly without foundation. The conversation you mention did not occur. I made no such statement."

Representative Hootenberg, republican, Illinois, declared the witness should not dignify such reports to insult the committee. Mr. Clegg took a hand.

"I have no reply," he said. "Mr. Campbell's reply covers it."

In beginning his statement today, Simmons launched into an attack against the New York World, declaring that newspaper in publishing an alleged expose of the Ku Klux Klan had never presented any evidence to support its charge that lawless acts had been committed by Klansmen.

Seeing great circulation gains by a rival, the wizard said, the paper resorted to a part of it, employing "a former Klansman who had been discharged by Edward Young Clarke," head of the Ku Klux publicity bureau.

Everybody grinned when the wizard declared the World was preparing to have one of its representatives tormented and feathered in an effort to make it appear the crime was the work of the Ku Klux.

Taking the wizard in hand for direct examination, Chairman Campbell announced he wanted some concrete information and short answers. The order was called the Ku Klux Klan, Simmons said, "as a memorial to men, north and south, who served in the old war time organization and to perpetuate its spiritual purposes."

Prior to 1920 he said the membership was around 5000. Until June, 1920, the "order" was slowly, he testified, increasing in that time about $15,000 as indicated by exhibits, which Simmons said were not exactly correct.

"LIGHT ORGAN" FOR CHURCHES

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Development of a "light organ" for churches on which artists would play symphonies of illumination rivaling in emotional appeal the greatest of music, was presented today by Claude Bragdon, architect following an exhibition of his system in the Church of St. Mark's in the Bowery yesterday.

The keyboard of the impromptu "light organ" on which Mr. Bragdon played was a row of electric switches controlling a series of blue, amber, green and red lights suspended in large circular lanterns.

Manipulating the switches, Mr. Bragdon produced a wide variety of effects, interpreting, according to his theory, the changing moods of the service.

CALLS STRIKE THREAT DECLARATION OF WAR

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Senator Pomeroy called at the White House today but on leaving said he had not discussed anti-strike legislation with the president.

When the house convened today, Representative Blanton asked unanimous consent to discuss for five minutes "the recent declaration of war against the people of the United States which is to occur October 30."

Representative Walsh, republican, Massachusetts, prevented Mr. Blanton from speaking by objecting to his request.

Chairman Winslow of the house commerce committee, which considers measures affecting the railroads today called a meeting for tomorrow for the purpose, Mr. Winslow said, of deciding what legislation is to be pressed before the end of the present session. Committee members said it was probable that the strike situation would be discussed.

TO MAINTAIN LAW AND ORDER IN PUEBLA

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 17.—Residents of the city of Puebla have apparently been reassured by federal promises that law and order will be maintained there, and organized protests against actions of the state authorities are believed to have been quieted for some time. The city was reported last night as being tranquil.

Governor Sanchez of the state of Puebla, who made a spectacular flight from the city on Saturday night, returned to Puebla yesterday.

The state government has given no sign that it intends to revoke the tax law against which protest was made, but it is apparently felt that some agreement has been reached between the state and federal governments.

Ask Full Fiscal Freedom For Ireland

DUBLIN, Oct. 18.—(By the Associated Press).—The All-Ireland industrial conference in session here, passed unanimously today a resolution declaring that in the proposed treaty with Great Britain full fiscal freedom for Ireland was a fundamental and essential condition and that full control of all Irish industrial, shipping and commercial affairs must be vested in Irish authority. The resolution was forwarded to the Dail Eireann delegates in London. The conference was attended by delegates from the public boards, associations of manufacturers and tradesmen, and representatives of trades unions.

City Solicitor and Attorney Wier at Odds Over Certain Votes On Bridge Question

The meeting of the municipal council this morning was featured by a debate between City Solicitor William D. Regan and Fred N. Wier, counsel for the Engineering Service and Construction company of Boston. The bone of contention was work now being done on the Central bridge and involved points of sub-contractors and the method of settling for the work on the structure. Atty. Wier attempted to have a vote passed which would recognize the Scannell Boiler Works as sub-contractors from April 9. Mr. Regan objected and tendered a vote which would check the company, as Mr. Wier put it, from obtaining litigation. After a wordy battle, a roll-call was heard on whether or not the council would consider the votes today. Commissioners Murphy and Salmon voted in the affirmative while Commissioners Donnelly and Marchand and Mayor Thompson opposed. The matter was tabled until the next meeting of the council which is scheduled for Tuesday.

Parting of the Ways

During the discussion Mr. Wier agreed with Mr. Regan that they had come to the parting of the ways on the bridge question, while at one point Mr. Wier accused Mr. Regan of attempting to bring a struggle hold on the construction company.

The debate started when Mr. Wier introduced his vote to have the Scannell Boiler Works recognized by the city as sub-contractors. He admitted that this had never been done but it had been generally accepted by all parties interested that the Scannell Boiler works was to have the contract for labor and materials in steel work on the bridge.

Mr. Regan's chief objection was that such a vote as asked by Mr. Wier would subject the city to too much expense inasmuch as there would be a chance of pyramiding costs. He said the city was willing to pay for actual labor and costs of materials in addition to the 15 per cent cost plus as called for by the contract but refused to allow any other agreement such as was wanted by Mr. Wier to be voted upon without the matter being carefully considered.

According to Mr. Regan, when the contract was drawn up, the contractors were given a choice of doing the work per unit cost or on the 15 per cent cost plus basis. He said at that time it was written in the contract that all sub-contractors would have to be approved by the municipal council and be accompanied by a written order for such.

No Official Approval

Mr. Regan contended the Scannell company had never received official approval by the council. Here Mr. Wier said that on April 2 City Engineer Kearney in a letter to William A. Driscoll of the construction company ap-

BIG VOTE LOOKED FOR ON CHARTER QUESTION—WOMEN INTERESTED

Voters Early at the Polls Today—Big Increase in Early Morning Vote Over the Last Special Election

General Apathy is on the Run!

Lowell voters—men and women—woke up this morning to a realization of the fact that today's special election was a pressing vital problem and not a mere topic for current political debate, administrative charges and campaign arguments. As a result of this widespread feeling that the new charter proposition is one of vast importance to the city, the voters today went to the polls earlier than they did during the special election a week ago.

Figures gathered by The Sun reporters at noon showed that 21 precincts out of 23 had increased their early morning vote at least 15 per cent over the last special election up to 11 o'clock. In 10 precincts in wards 4, 7, 9 and 2, the vote was nearly twice as heavy as last week up to 10:30 o'clock.

The vote came out early in the Highland territory. Centralville precincts reported no general rush to the polls, but a better percentage up to 10 o'clock than was recorded at the previous election.

Political wisecracks who can sometimes tell which way the wind blows by early reading of the first ballot tabulators in the liveliest precincts, declared this afternoon that this special election had no need of campaign workers. The voters were steadily going to the various precincts, and it was evident, ward officers said, that many more women were voting than was the case last week.

Wherever The Sun men went this morning, women were present in

The others at the hospital are Mrs. Ada Zaremha and Ida Rathgen, eight years old, with wounds on hands and arms. The dog was reported first from the residential district on the south side of the Merrimack river and later crossed into the mill district. ## Adventures of The Twins

THEIR WERE PROFESSOR DEERABOUT'S EYEGLASSES WITH THE BIG RIMS.

Everything went smoothly for awhile in the Land of the Wiggles. Captain Pennywhistle and Curly his sea-horse mind—the traffic where it was thickest, and took care that the big fishes from the North did not bump a little fish or a little fish bump into the little fishes from the South, and the big fishes from the South did not get in the way of the little fishes from the North, also that the big fishes from the East did not—but goodness me! You know the rest of it. But perhaps you don't know, my dears, that the reason for such care was that when a big fish bumps into a big one, usually one of them disappears, skin, fins, tail, 'n' all, and it isn't the big one.

Things, and dropping all sorts of belongings overboard. There were Professor Deerabout's eyeglasses with the big rims, and Aunt Fanny's finger's knitting needles, one of the pair that her second cousin Josephine Flat had sent her from the city, with the green knobs—I mean the knitting needles, had green knobs, not the city, although I've seen pictures of cities with green knobs on the buildings, and I've seen cities in fairy books, with green knobs—there, I mean the cities, this time, the books didn't have any knobs. But what am I talking about? Oh, yes, I started to tell you what the Twins found.

AMERICAN LEGION EMPLOYMENT BUREAU

Seeking to aid as much as possible the unemployed world war veterans of Lowell the local post of the American Legion at its regular meeting last evening voted not only to co-operate with the mayor's employment committee but also to open at the earliest possible time, probably next week, a legion employment bureau, through which the ex-service men hope to place many of their comrades' work. Although the bureau has only been a spoken-of-matter so far, Commander Powers announced at the meeting that night men were provided positions in the last week and plans are being made to obtain jobs for more veterans who are out of work and known to be in real need of assistance. It was stated that among the business firms that have given ex-service men jobs, thus co-operating with the legion campaign, are the Barber Brush company, Lawrence and the Jewett Cider mill. The state highway commission has also placed a number of men to work on the Littleton road job.

CAMPAIGN FOR NEW MEMBERS

The important things on the schedule of the Y.W.C.A. this week are a campaign for new members and a few conferences with three association members from New York. Last Friday marked the beginning of the membership campaign. Y'va teams from different parts of the city are in competition and, before Thursday night, when the contest ends, it is expected that a new record for membership will be reached.

Five teams of twenty members each under the leadership of their chairmen are, according to the plans of the campaign, busy in every district of the city. Mrs. L. A. Ayer, Pawtucketville; Mrs. C. Marshall Porrest, Upper Highlands; Mrs. Wilder, Lower Highlands; Mrs. John Stevens, Belvidere and Mrs. S. Black of Centralville, are the chairmen of the teams. Friday at a directors' and secretaries' luncheon the conference with the New York officials will begin. Miss Julia Capen, city secretary for this branch, Miss Hobbs, a finance specialist, and a national association committee member whose name is not known are the visitors. The executive committee and the chairmen of the different departments will have a conference on matters concerning association work with the New York specialists after the luncheon. Miss Capen, later in the day, will talk before a staff meeting of Lowell Y.W.C.A. workers.

Intelligent Co-operation

THIS great sale of "old reliable" Kohler and Campbell pianos is not a thing of the moment,—it didn't "just happen." It is the direct result of intelligent co-operation between a well known manufacturer and his retailers,—a deliberate effort to co-ordinate the "making" and the "selling" ends of the business. Read the further explanation that follows.

THIS IS OUR PROPOSITION IN A NUTSHELL

First to make it as easy as possible to buy a Kohler & Campbell piano whether you prefer a straight upright—a player-piano or a baby grand. The prices for this sale are—

Upright Piano .....	$375
Player-piano .....	$575
Baby Grand .....	$725

No Interest

We make it so easy to pay for one of these splendid instruments,—that no one may say "I would like to own one—but I cannot afford it."

PAY $10 DOWN

Or $2.00 per week on an Upright

Or $3.00 per week on a Player-piano

Or $4.00 per week on a Baby Grand

On Our 3 Year Plan

No Interest

You may pay as little as $10 as a first or "down" payment. Or you may take as long as 3 years to pay the balance by taking advantage of our weekly payment plan. This small down payment or this long time extension is merely a part of our plan to put good music in the home of everyone who wants it.

There are other advantages,—notably the high character of the instruments.

GUARANTEE

Kohler & Campbell instruments are guaranteed unreservedly in writing for ten years from date of purchase,—we holding ourselves jointly liable with the manufacturers.

How it is made possible

It is just a matter of common business sense. An increase in the sale of a thing permits a decrease in the price; a greater volume automatically tends to reduce costs. This sale is for the purpose of selling 100 Kohler & Campbell pianos right here in Lowell—naturally we can sell them for less than if we only sold forty pianos during the same period of time.

By offering these attractive prices,—by giving exceptionally easy terms of payment,—we increase our sales and thereby reduce prices.

Hence, this sale is based on good business reasoning,—on what might well be termed "enlightened self interest." By the same token, it should appeal to you. Join the "get together" movement—save money and at the same time have music in your home.

This saving—on any Kohler & Campbell instrument you buy here now—represents the reduced gross profit made possible by selling in large numbers. Isn't this plain? You will do well to come and examine these splendid instruments. They are very far removed from the sort of pianos made for "sale" purposes.

TEAR THIS OUT AND MAIL AT ONCE

The safe way to wash fine fabrics

Tests made by leading makers of delicate fabrics

WITH the greatly increased use of sheer fabrics and very delicate colors in the last few years, the manufacturers of silk materials and garments have met a serious problem in the way women laundered them.

Incorrect washing methods and the use of wrong soap products have ruined numberless garments, and brought the manufacturers many complaints.

Leading manufacturers of fine silks, woolsens, and sheer fabrics, have recently made careful investigation of the laundering of their special products.

As a result of these investigations they unqualifiedly recommend Lux.

Weak Women Regain Lost Strength

Surprised by Amazing Promptness With Which They Are Benefited

Women who are weak and run-down and in a nervous condition are writing us in steadily increasing numbers how they have been benefited by the use of Wincarnis. These letters are conclusive proof of the extraordinary tonic and restorative virtues of Wincarnis.

Mrs. John R. Perkins, wife of the well known florist of Green, R. I., was suffering with stomach trouble and weakened nerves after a serious illness. In a recent letter she said: "My food would not digest but would go to gas and I could hardly keep still a minute. After doctoring for six months I began taking Wincarnis and found that it not only helped my nerves but also regulated my digestive organs. It helped me wonderfully and I would gladly recommend it to women who have nervous trouble."

Mrs. N. Gasman of 50 Rutgers Ave., Jersey City, N. J., says: "Wincarnis is everything you have said it to be. I was nervous, irritable and always discontented. Even the doctor's medicines did me no good. I took Wincarnis and I have improved so much in the last few weeks that words fail me to express my gratitude."

Mrs. G. Schmitt, 2531 Orkney street, Philadelphia, Pa., reports: "I was in a run-down condition after an attack of influenza. The doctor gave me a tonic but it did not seem to help me at all. I saw an advertisement for Wincarnis and thought I would try it. It soon made me feel like a new person."

Wincarnis did Mrs. Carrie Hendrickson of No. 113 Broad Street, Red Bank, N. J., so much good that she recommends it to all her friends. Recently she wrote: "Only those who have suffered from influenza can realize the intense weakness in which it leaves the system. My recovery after influenza was very slow. I did not care whether school kept or not until after I had taken Wincarnis. I have great faith in the preparation and always keep it in the house and recommend it to all my friends."

Miss Helen Kattowski, of 475 Grove Street, Jersey City, N. J., reports that she gained six pounds in one month while taking Wincarnis. Mrs. Hattie J. Goodrich of Ludlow, Vermont, who has been suffering from nervous trouble and is subject to fainting spells writes enthusiastically of the benefit she has derived from the use of Wincarnis.

We could publish thousands of similar letters received from many parts of the world. For Wincarnis is famous throughout the world as a tonic, restorative, bloodmaker and nerve-builder. Wincarnis is put up in two sizes—$1.10 and $1.95. It is sold in Lowell by Burkinshaw Drug Co., 418 Middlesex St., and all first-class drug stores. Write for free instructive booklet, "Hundred Per Cent Health, How To Obtain It," to Edward Lassere, Inc., Dept. B, 405 West 23rd Street, New York, U. S. Agents for Wincarnis. Adv.

Pains Around the Heart

When the action of the stomach is weakened by debility or defective nerve force the food is retained undigested in the stomach. Gas forms and presses on the other organs, particularly the heart, the pains in that region often causing a fear of heart trouble. Organic heart trouble rarely causes pain around the heart and when this symptom is noted you should try toning up your digestion before giving way to needless alarm.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic that directly affects the organs of digestion. They supply to the stomach the rich, red blood without which normal digestion is impossible. They awaken into activity the gastric glands and strengthen the muscles of the stomach and give the nerve force necessary to proper digestion and assimilation.

Two books, "Building Up the Blood" and "What to Eat and How to Eat" will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are for sale in every drug store or they will be sent direct, postpaid, on receipt of price, sixty cents per box—Adv.

PLAN BIG CELEBRATION

Grand Centenary Celebration Discussed by Descendants of Irish Pioneers

Descendants of the Irish pioneers in Lowell and vicinity are discussing plans for a grand centenary celebration next April, to mark the first great influx of Irish laborers who came to East Chelmsford, afterwards Lowell, to settle on the "Acres."

On April 6, 1822, 30 Irish laborers, headed by Hugh Cumminskey, walked over the road from Charlestown to what is now Lowell. On the same afternoon they reported to Kirk Boott, then agent for the Merrimack company, in front of what is now the American House, and expressed their willingness to start work immediately, widening the Pawtucket canal. But Mr. Boott, noticing the tired, dazed condition of the willing Irish laborers, told them to take some refreshment and rest until the next day. The next morning he pointed out the work outlined for them to their foreman, Hugh Cumminskey, who had previously contracted with Boott to widen and rebuild the old Pawtucket canal, which at that time furnished power for the mills and machines shown in the new town.

That afternoon the Irish laborers were assigned to a tract of land owned by the Locks and Canal company on what is now the "Acres." Here was started in a short time, the first Irish colony in Lowell, and from its precincts have come the children, the grandchildren and the great grandchildren of the pioneer laborers who helped to make Lowell possible.

Among those of the direct descendants of these first Irish, now living, is John J. Green of 113 Shaw street, who is one of the most enthusiastic movers for a centennial celebration. Mr. Green's father, who was also named John, came to Lowell from Boston when it was known as East Chelmsford, to work as gardener for Kirk Boott. On arrival here, he superintended the laying out of the beautiful botanical gardens around Mr. Boott's residence and beautified the approaches to the Merrimack mills.

In conversation with a reporter, Mr. John J. Green said:

"This idea to observe the coming of the first Irish pioneers to Lowell, by a celebration next spring is one that should arouse those of Irish birth and descent in and around the city. Those thirty Irish laborers, sturdy young fellows as they must have been—really paved the way for the success of the city. They were humble, but they had the brawn, the brains and the initiative to build the canals, the mills and the streets and boarding-houses. Under the expert supervision of Mr. Cumminskey, who had considerable natural genius, the above marks and avenues of trade were accomplished. And Hugh Cumminskey, the practical contractor and builder, was aided by the superior education of Patrick Tracy Jackson, who was of Irish extraction, Paul Moody and Kirk Boott."

"With the deeds of these first pioneers in mind, some leading spirits in Lowell and surrounding towns should evolve a fitting extension of service. If I were a young man, I would take an active interest in formulating plans. However, I am ready to give advice—historical and otherwise—to help along plans made by more active young men in the city, who are willing to inaugurate a celebration that will give the Irish pioneers due credit."

Other leading citizens of Irish extraction, some of them actual descendants of the first thirty who settled on the "Acres" or its vicinity, were interviewed and all voiced Mr. Green's sentiments.

The consensus of opinion among those interviewed was that the centennial celebration should take the form of a three days observance, with a big parade of Irish societies, exercises in the Catholic schools with the reading of historical essays, the delivering of orations, interspersed with music, the erection of historical markers or tablets in a public place, either on the North common or at some point on the old "Acres," culminating with a grand banquet or meeting at which distinguished orators, preferably descendants of the Irish pioneers would preside.

SCHOOL FOR WAR VETERANS CLOSED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Orders closing the Berkeley Pre-Vocational school at Boston, where 500 war veterans have been in attendance, were issued yesterday by Director Forbes of the veterans bureau.

Mr. Forbes said the school had been found to be unsanitary, unhealthy and he was satisfied that "it had been vouchsafed the government for services never rendered."

One student, aged 72, was discovered on the school's rolls, Mr. Forbes declared. He is William Blackburn of Lynn, Mass., who, Mr. Forbes declared, has learned to write his name in a shaky hand after receiving government training for over two years at a cost of about $3600. How Blackburn qualified for vocational training was not explained.

"SPRINGTIME" BY GIRLS CITY CLUB AT OPERA HOUSE BIG SUCCESS

Capacity Audience Generous in Its Appreciation of Young Actors' Efforts—Play Replete With Comedy, Dancing, Song and Story

A capacity audience filled the Opera House last night when the first presentation of the delightful musical comedy, "Springtime," was given under the auspices of the Girls City club, and generous applause rewarded the young actors' efforts from beginning to end. So soon, it is said, has the young actors' efforts been rewarded in this city that it is not surprising to find that the play is being repeated in a play calling for capable acting and, in addition, dancing and singing of a high order, but the audience at last evening's performance was well repaid for its patronage. A professional company could hardly have given a more satisfactory presentation.

The comedy was rehearsed and staged under the personal direction of Miss Louise E. Chase, of the John B. Rogers Producing company, and the results attained by this capable director show that she possesses ability of the highest order. The Girls City club is to be congratulated on securing such an able and enthusiastic coach.

MISS LOUISE E. CHASE
Director

that they are all worthy of special mention, but of course those who played the "leads," Miss Emily Gaudette, as "Priscilla," and Thomas M. Kelly, as "Jack Walworth," had the most opportunity for displaying their talent, and the fact that their every effort was rewarded by unstinted applause clearly shows that they made the most of the opportunity. Charles J. Keyes as "Bobby Brewster" was ideally cast and his fun-making ability, which has been conclusively demonstrated many times in the past, convulsed the audience. Miss Alice Coyne as "Zenobia," "Bobby's" wife, was exceptionally good, and her makeup deserves particular mention. Miss Cathryn O'Neill as "Primrose"

Standish" was delightful, and Miss Mary Craven as "Alfred Tompkins," a susceptible maiden, was inspired. Eugene Mullin portrayed the part of "James Brewster," founder of the famous "Brewster Pills," as only a comedian of "Glen" ability could portray it, and as "Thankful Standish" his sister, Miss Alice Curran succeeded in giving a most artistic interpretation of an excellent character role. Miss Marie and Dora Dewire, Miss Isabel McCafferty and Arthur McQuade did excellent work in the second act.

The singing, of which there was an abundance throughout the play, was particularly good, and the dancing exceptionally clever. Pretty costumes added greatly to the general effect. The story of the play deals with the brilliant romance of a son of 1865 aristocracy and the daughter of the founder of "Brewster's Pills," which is repeated in the case of their children in the late years of the nineteenth century, is finally realized in the union of their grandchildren in 1921. The time involved in the story covers a period of more than fifty years. A prelude, explaining the situation, introduces each of the three acts, with Mrs. Belle Harrington Hall doing excellent work as raconteur. Scene one of Act one is set in an old garden near New York, in May, 1921. Priscilla Dean's friends are celebrating her twentieth birthday with a Mardi Gras party. The other scenes of the play have the same setting, the second act portraying the garden in May, 1865, twenty years later than the second scene of Act one, which is in May, 1865. The final scene brings us back to the present time. The cast of the play, the ensemble, the musical numbers are as follows:

Act 1—Elvira Eastman, a social butterfly, Alice Dacey, Desires, May Hewson, Joyce, Sadie Melancon; Sue, Anna O'Leary; Mrs. Elkins, of another generation. Mrs. Belle Harrington Hall; James Brewster, founder of the famous Brewster's Pills, Eugene Mullin; Thankful Standish, his sister, Alice Curran; Priscilla Brewster, daughter of James, Emily Gaudette; Primrose Standish, daughter of Thankful, Cathryn O'Neill; Tom Higgins, of Boston, Charles Clancy; Jack Walworth, a young inventor, Thomas M. Kelly; Elvira Judd, a young widow, Alice Dacey; Abigail Tompkins, a susceptible maiden, Mary Craven; Bobby Brewster, a son with the ladies, Charles J. Keyes; Howerling, Marie Gallagher and Margaret Tully.

Act 2—Little Priscilla, Maria Dewire, Vera, Dora Dewire, Daisy, Isabel McCafferty; Master Jack, Arthur McQuade; Billy and Joe, Wm. Kelly and Walter Pascal; Mrs. Priscilla Higgins, formerly Priscilla Brewster, Emily Gaudette; "Wizard" Jack Walworth, Thomas M. Kelly; Primrose Walworth, formerly Elvira Judd, Cathryn O'Neill; Mrs. Elvira Judd, Alice Dacey; Abigail Tompkins, older, but still susceptible, (the same Bobby), Charles J. Keyes; Zenobia, his wife, Alice Coyne.

Act 3—Priscilla Dean, granddaughter

DELIVERED BRILLIANT ADDRESS ON DANTE

Dr. Bruno Ronelli, native of Florence, Italy, and professor of romance language at Vassar college, delivered a brilliant address on Dante before the Middlesex Women's club, yesterday afternoon. The address was in recognition of the 600th anniversary of the death of the Italian poet, and was received with warm appreciation by the club members and guests.

Dr. Ronelli, who was a speaker at the commencement exercises at Rogers Hall school last June, praised the spirit of the two students of American colleges and universities who went last summer to place a bronze tablet on the Dante tomb.

"We stand on a common footing now with other European powers," he said, speaking of Italy's place on the map of achievement. "We are able to stand upon our own feet. Six hundred years ago Dante foresaw the separation of church and state." He declared that Italy had lived on the memory of Dante for centuries. The great poet actually lived ahead of his time. In closing his address, the professor said:

"It is my wish that Dante should come to America not as a reward for a certain number of votes in a given town, but because of political pull, but because America needs the message which Dante can bring. Because of this chaotic condition of religion that prevails, it would not be a bad thing to bring in the theory of Dante, of morality per se."

Haslin, Bernardet Finnegan, Helen Campbell, Margaret Wynne, Raymond Lewis, Louis Lalonde, Ernest Walte, John Chulish, Ernest Kelly, John Kelly, Wendell Reed, Teddy Anderson, Marion Droney.

Spirits of Memory—Dorothy Young, Billie Mineau, Annabelle Moughan, Bernice Wood, Kathryn Sullivan, Anna Egan, Armandine Lalonde, Alice O'Brien, Laura Edmund, Alice O'Brien, Dorothy Ryan, Georgianna Lalonde.

Show Girls—Mary O'Brien, Eleanor Reeves, Noreen Griffin, Mabel Hogan, Winnie Welch, Sadie Smith, Rita Joyce, Billie Mineau, Dorothy Young, Mary O'Malley, Rose O'Brien, Elsie Choquette.

Maid of the Jury—Lillian Renaud, Kathleen Martin, Rosella Hogan, Gertrude McGrath, Eva Messier, Lena Malton, Frieda Kenney, Catherine Mulligan, Beatrice Hession, Mary Danckert, Ethel Winslow, Ellen Martin.

Futurist Group—Violet MacLean, Bernice Hayes, Yvonne Fremont, Evelyn Whitson, Eileen Markham, Sadie Finnegan, Annie MacLean, Jeanne McDonald, Mary Bagley, Helen Brown, Mary Coughlin, Claire Robarge.

Mardi Gras Group—Hazel McHale, Margaret Goggin, Marian McDonald, Josephine Park, Margaret Reynolds, Dorothy Ward, Hazel Manning, Margaret Holgate, Anna Harris, Frieda Atkinson, Janette Lewis.

The musical numbers are as follows:

LONDON, Oct. 15. (By Associated Press.)—Sir Eric Geddes, minister of transportation in the British cabinet, has tendered his resignation from that office. It was learned yesterday.

The resignation of Sir Eric has no great political significance. It had been understood that he would give up his portfolio this autumn, after having piloted the railway bill through parliament.

FOR EDITH CAVELL
Memorial Services in honor of Edith Cavell, the English nurse shot by the Germans, were held by the British-American Social club in St. Anne's church Sunday evening. Fully 250 members of the organization besides many others who wished to participate in the ceremonies, marched to the church from the Kirk street parish house, the American and British colors leading the procession. In his eulogy of Miss Cavell, Rev. Mr. Grannis said the English nurse deserves a place high in the ranks of heroines of the world war. He traced in detail her work in the great struggle, her capture by the enemy and the many occurrences that finally led to her execution. The clergyman referred to the monument recently erected in her honor in Brussels as one of the finest tributes given to any hero or heroine of the war. Since its organization in 1914, it has been the practice of the British-American Social club to hold memorial services for some heroic figure of the world war.

"Photoplay Greater Than Any Other Art"—Cecil DeMille

EILEEN PERCY. SHE'S STARRING BY FOX, BUT SO FAR HAS MADE NO FILM OF OUTSTANDING MERIT.

BY JAMES W. DEAN

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—One may disagree with Cecil DeMille's idea about the art of the screen since his butchery of "The Admirable Crichton" and "The Affairs of Anatol."

However, one must agree that DeMille has certain definite ideas about his business, that he has given that business much serious thought which has resulted in many innovations now in common usage by all directors.

So what he has to say of the art of the cinema is worth more than a passing interest.

"Because it can and does embrace all the other arts, the motion picture is destined to be just as many times as great as there are separate arts," DeMille says. "The seven arts which go to make the motion picture are making it seven times as great as any one of them. That is the artistic destiny of the screen."

DeMille outlines the usages of the seven arts in the making of photoplays as follows:

Drama: The photoplay is primarily dramatic entertainment. It has already developed a dramatic form as distinctive as that of which required several hundred years to develop for the stage.

Painting: The photoplay is also essential pictorial. It is in itself a picture and makes use of the art of painting to enhance its own beauty.

Architecture: It plays its part in the staging of photodrama. Before many years the screen will boast of a school of architecture and painting all its own.

Sculpture: It serves as an aid in all the other arts, the motion picture is destined to be just as many times as great as there are separate arts," DeMille says. screen, the tremendous possibilities of the motion picture as a medium for carrying artistic ideas is attracting the great artists of the world," DeMille asserts. "Eventually the screen will claim the greatest artists in every line of endeavor."

I quite agree with DeMille about the screen eventually claiming the greatest artists in every line of endeavor. After one has become recognized as an artist, art is not performed for art's sake alone. And the photoplay producer has greater resources to pay for art than others who offer markets to artists.

"Lady Godiva," Tennyson's poem, has been filmed in Europe and will be exhibited in America. It probably was screened abroad because so many of our stars have bobbed hair. If you remember the story of the horseback ride the lady took, you'll gather what I mean.

Marshall Neilan advances the suggestion that the cinematic picture, such as his recent "Bits of Life," will open the market for amateur scenario writers.

The amateur writer is usually able to evolve only enough action for a two-reel film, Neilan says, and thus a feature that would include several such stories would afford a writer's market and a novelty for screen audiences.

There is merit in Neilan's idea. There would be more merit to some of the feature plays written by professional scenario writers if they confined their stories to two reels.

"Jane Eyre," starring Mabel Ballin, to be released Nov. 6.

which has been in conference with President Harding and the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington. The public members will reach Chicago late today.

No outline of what the conference would discuss was announced but it was said that new proposals would be presented to the labor men in an effort to prevent an actual cessation of work on the roads.

Pres. Lee's Statement

CLEVELAND, Oct. 15.—President Lee of the trainmen today issued a statement in which he asserted that the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen very reluctantly takes the position that it cannot longer agree to give service unless there is assurance that there will be no further wage reductions, nor attempt to eliminate working rules that have been secured through many years of collective bargaining and which represent only fair remuneration for extra service given.

After discussing the wages of trainmen in which he made comparison of wages paid in 1913 with those received now, Mr. Lee said: "The men have been asked to accept what is an inadequate living wage. They know the railways are taking unfair advantage of business depression to force them to accept unfair wages and service conditions. To state the matter briefly, they believe that the companies are going to continue their aggressive warfare against them until they force the men to strike. Therefore, they must reluctantly decide to accept the challenge now."

Mr. Lee's statement in part follows:

The wages of train and yard service employees were fixed in 1913 and were not changed, except in a very few minor instances, until January 1, 1918. Time and one-half for overtime was not allowed yard employees until April 10, 1918, and for road employees until December 1, 1918. The award of the United States railroad labor board, which fixed wages at the peak became effective May 1, 1920, while the wage reduction on which the present controversy hinges, became effective July 1, 1921. The further demands for the elimination of time and one-half for overtime, unless allowing extra pay for extra service performed, and further wage reductions were made following the award effective July 1, 1920.

"From 1913 through the period in which this country became commercially interested in the European war and until Jan. 1, 1918, transportation employees did not receive any advance in their daily or monthly wages. The enactment of the Adamson law which was declared constitutional March 19, 1917, did not increase the daily wage of the employees affected. That is, it did not increase either the daily or monthly wages of the men interested."

"For the purpose of clearness we offer for exhibit the wages of the through freight brakemen running into New York in 1918, whose wages were fixed by the arbitration of that year and which wage rate remained in full force and effect until Jan. 1, 1918. This is a typical wage earned by an employee whose class transports more than 30 per cent of the freight business of this country. 'This employee received in the eastern territory $2.67 for his normal day's work of 100 miles within 10 hours, or $32.10 for a 30 day month. With the increase of Jan. 1, 1918, he received approximately $1.64 additional, which made his daily rate $4.31 and his monthly wage for a 30 day month $131.30. Supplement No. 16, effective Jan. 1, 1919, brought his daily rate to $4.95, and his monthly wage for a 30 day month $148.40, and by the decision of the United States railroad labor board effective May 1, 1920, brought the daily rate of the through freight brakemen running into New York to $5.12, which multiplied by 30 days for the month, gave him a monthly wage of $153.60."

The wage decrease effective July 1, 1921, reduced the monthly rate to $124.00 for 30 days' service, on which amount he is expected to maintain himself and family decently and reasonably and he cannot do it as every one who is trying to maintain an American standard of living understands."

"The wage quoted is a typical train service wage. Percentages of increases show that wages have been very much increased, but in money amounts they will not show so favorably. In fact, with the reduction of 12 per cent threatened abrogation of all schedule rules and further wage reductions the employee knows that it is impossible for him to live on the daily or monthly rates as proposed, unless he is willing to work at least a day and one-half in order to earn enough to live a day."

"Another source of aggravation to the employees which they bitterly resent, is the disposition of the railroads to take away from them all of the advantages that were secured through several years of collective bargaining. By agreement with the railroads, special allowances were provided for special service. It is not the purpose of the railways to ask for the elimination of time and one-half for overtime, and there is no intimation that they propose to restore what allowances were sacrificed when time and one-half was established. Regardless of popular opinion to the effect that all employees are worked

Drop in Marks Causes Run on Stores

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—The accelerated slump in the price of German marks has caused a run on stores in many parts of Germany by foreign buyers, who, despite the enhanced prices of most manufactured articles, are still able to purchase advantageously. The Swiss frontier, according to the Vorwaerts today, has been closed for across-the-border trading in textiles, as Swiss buyers have completely stripped the frontier towns around Baden of articles of apparel. It is also reported that the Swiss watch industry is almost paralyzed on account of the cheapness of German watches in consequence of the slump in German marks.

No Newspapers In Berlin Today

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—As a result of disputes between publishers and workers, no newspapers appeared in Berlin this morning with the exception of socialist and communist organs and two Pan-German publications.

On the eight-hour basis in transportation service, the fact is that there is no eight hour day in train service except as a basis for fixing a normal day's work. Trainmen, both freight and passenger, do not go into overtime until they have used up the time allowance on the mileage of the run."

Spirited Controversy
CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Executive officials and general chairman of a dozen unions of railroad employees, representing 1,500,000 workers, began arriving today for conference beginning tomorrow to determine whether they traversed over the attitude of the Big Five railroad brotherhoods in issuing a strike call.

A joint conference at the end of the week is in prospect. A spirited controversy over the attitude of the Big Five brotherhoods is indicated in the statements of the leaders outside the Big Five group.

The train dispatchers have declared they will not go out at this time, the telegraphers and clerks announced their decision was still unformed and others have indicated the question was still open although some of the unions, notably the shopmen and maintenance of way employees, have authorized a strike call by a referendum vote.

B. M. Jewell, president of the Railway Employees department of the American Federation of Labor, declared today he was still hopeful that a strike could be averted.

The Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, freight handlers, express and station employees was the latest to issue a summons for a strike conference. Twenty-two grand officers and 200 general chairmen were called to meet here Sunday by President E. F. Fitzgerald.

To Lay Case Before Cabinet

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—President Harding was in position today to lay before his cabinet an analysis of the railroad strike situation, an outline of the government's position in the controversy and suggestions as to defensive measures to protect federal functions if and when the tieup becomes actual.

In addition to a report submitted by the joint conference of the public group of the Railroad Labor board, and the Interstate Commerce Commission, Mr. Harding was understood to have the list of reports obtained by Attorney General Daugherty and Postmaster General Hays, after sur-

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts at First Sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night, if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with glycerine and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.—Adv.

"Mr. Zero" Flays City of Washington

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—"A city without a civic conscience" was the appellation bestowed upon the national capital today by Urbain Ledoux, self-elected shepherd for a group of unemployed. The population of Washington, he declared, was composed principally of "leaders who come to take rather than give." His latest blow, he explained, was the refusal of the local authorities to renew a permit for a public meeting through which he had hoped to obtain funds. Ledoux said that as a last resort only, he intended to repeat in Washington the auction of unemployed.

YOUTHFUL EXPLORER BACK FROM ARCTIC

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 18.—Captain Harold Noyce, known as one of the youngest of the sub-polar explorers, is shortly to return to his home after six years of exploration and adventure along the Arctic coasts of Alaska and Canada, according to a cablegram received from him from Teller, Alaska, recently.

The cablegram told of his arrival at Teller on the Hudson Bay company steamer, Lady Kindersley, which had picked him up at Three Rivers, 1200 miles of Herschel Island, whence he had traveled after charting a large section of the coast of Victoria land.

In March, 1915, Noyce, then only 19 years old joined Capt. Louis Lane in his famous Arctic trading expedition on the power schooner, Polar Bear. He expected to be back in Seattle within a few months. Instead he remained six years in the north.

During the summer of 1916 the Polar Bear cruised eastward along the Arctic coast, trading furs and searching for Vihjalmur Stefansson, the explorer, who had been missing in the Arctic for more than two years. Finally Lane found Stefansson and Noyce joined the latter's expedition as record-keeper and map-maker. He remained with Stefansson three years.

When the expedition began the return to civilization in 1919, Noyce purchased an old trading schooner and began in earnest the career of an explorer. During the last three years, according to the meagre news that has found its way south, he has chartered hitherto untouched shores of the northwest passage as well as the Victoria land coast line. Last summer, according to a letter to his parents, he was engaged in the penetration of the Victoria land interior. At the same time his parents learned he was completing the work on a dictionary of the Eskimo languages, said to be the first of its kind ever compiled.

VETERAN TELEGRAPHERS IN ANNUAL MEETING

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 18.—The Old-Time Telegraphers' and Historical Association will hold its annual meeting here today, October 18, 19 and 20. The association, which numbers among its members Thomas A. Edison, and of which the late Andrew Carnegie was a member, is a national organization, composed of telegraph operators of the old school, some of the members having been in the business of manipulating the key much more than a half century ago, and all of them having had an experience of at least a quarter of a century.

Among the 1200 members there are numerous men of diverse callings, prominent in the higher walks of life—lawyers, doctors, captains of industry and finance, and in official life. Quite a number of prominent railroad officials are on the roll of membership and not a few of them will attend the annual convention this year. The association has one unique regulation—the officers, elected for one year at a time are always selected from the membership residing in the city or community in which the forthcoming annual meeting is to be held. Gen. Jo Lane Stern of this city is the president for this year and will preside at the meeting to be held in October.

When he was not quite 12 years of age and was with his mother and father on the farm at Chesterfield Station, now called Rutherford's Glen, in Hanover county, the confederate government established a telegraph office there, and the operators placed in charge found board and lodging in the home of the Stern family. These operators took a fancy to young Jo and he took a powerful fancy to the telegraph instruments and in an incredibly short time became a good operator. He made quite a hit when, on Sunday in the spring of 1862 in the temporary absence of the regular operator he "went in" on the wires and reported the doings of federal raiders. Soon afterwards the young telegrapher was taken into the confederate regular service.

LOWELL DELEGATES TO STATE CONVENTION

Determined to re-elect Officer Edward F. Fitzgerald to the executive committee and to make a decided effort to bring next year's convention to this city, the Lowell delegates to the state convention of the Massachusetts Police association will leave for Fall River Wednesday morning. The convention, a two-day session, opens at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The representatives of the local force who have been chosen to make the trip are Sergeant W. H. McGuire, Officers Clyde Aldrich, Morris Shapiro, Timothy O'Connor, James Connelley and Jeremiah Cullen. They will go to Fall River by automobile, leaving Lowell early enough to enable them to be on hand at the opening of the first day's session.

As Lowell received encouraging consideration from the delegates at the past two or three conventions, the local branch of the association feels confident that this city will be accepted for next year's gathering.

MORE CIGARS BUT FEWER CIGARETS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—A billion more cigars, almost two billions fewer cigarettes and 14,000,000 pounds less of manufactured tobacco were produced during 1920 than during 1919, census bureau statistics compiled from internal revenue reports show.

Pennsylvania leads in the manufacture of large and small cigars, producing more than one-quarter of the total which was 527,732 large cigars and 542,640,900 small cigars in 1920.

North Carolina leads in the production of small cigars, producing more than half of the country's total output, which was 51,192,762.

New York leads in production of large cigars, producing almost 27 per cent of the country's total of 11,051,217.

North Carolina leads in production of smoking tobacco, producing more than one-quarter of the 228,566,555 pounds manufactured in 1919.

Missouri leads in the production of plug tobacco producing 41 per cent of the 144,037,335 pounds manufactured in 1919, and also leads in production of twist of which 11,290,455 pounds were manufactured in 1919.

Illinois leads in the production of fine cut tobacco producing more than 35 per cent of the country's total of 1,155,563 pounds.

ONCE UPON A TIME THERE WERE NO DOCTORS!

Doctors Preach Prevention Is Better Than Cure.

Ninety per cent of all disease is preventable, so doctors say. Eat simple food, exercise wisely, sleep sufficiently, and—what is vitally important—make sure of the daily, regular, thorough elimination of body waste, and the chances are nine to one that you will keep well, work efficiently and enjoy life. Bowel elimination of food and tissue waste is all-important. But in case of irregularity, disordered or imperfect action do not make the common mistake of taking harsh, violently acting medicines, with the idea of forcing the bowels to act. Nature believes in mild methods. She responds best to persuasion.

So in selecting a simple remedy to regulate and assure proper bowel action, you should not use harsh or violently acting remedies, no matter how much has been claimed for them. You should choose some well-known, time tested, trial proven remedy, that has made its reputation by being used for many years, by the sorts of people, all over the world. Take Beecham's Pills for example. Beecham's is a household word, has been for over half a century. People not only take Beecham's but recommend Beecham's to their friends. Their use is handed down from father to son or from mother to daughter, from one generation to another. Did you ever hear any complaint or criticism of Beecham's? Isn't that a pretty powerful endorsement of their worth? Druggists are glad to sell Beecham's.

PLAN "PERFECT

PACKAGE MONTH"

A nation-wide "perfect package" movement will be conducted by the railroads, steamship lines and the express carriers of the United States and Canada during November, which will be known as "Perfect Package Month." The shipping public of this city will be asked to co-operate in the campaign.

An announcement to this effect was made today by a joint committee of local transportation men, composed of F. W. Brown, general agent, representing the Boston & Maine railroad, and C. F. Langley, agent of the American Railway Express company. This committee has taken the matter up with the city chamber of commerce and arrangements have been completed to enable the shippers of this city to make a good showing in the movement.

The purpose of "Perfect Package Month" is to enable the carriers to aid shippers in their packing problems,

and to help improve the transportation service of the country.

During November the railroads, steamship lines and the express companies will examine the condition of all freight and express shipments and record the faults of shipments, which do not come up to the general classification of "perfect packages."

Special report blanks for freight and express will be made out for every shipment that is found wanting in some detail of good shipping, and these reports will be sent to the shippers of the packages. A summary of all exceptions found during November will be submitted to the city chamber of commerce, for examination and tabulation.

At the conclusion of the movement, the record of each city during "Perfect Package Month" will be tabulated and published broadcast. The leading city will be exploited, because of its perfection in shipping methods.

Considerable rivalry has been aroused among traffic organizations which have determined to make their city the leader of "Perfect Package Month."

November was selected for the campaign, as the carriers are in a position where they can give more careful examination of passing traffic, and could, in fact, handle at least 25 per cent more business.

Every city by town throughout the United States and Canada that ships by rail or water will be informed of these plans and be asked to aid in carrying them out. The entire working organization of all of the railroads and express companies are also to be enlisted in the campaign, comprising a force of nearly 2,000,000 men.

The railroads will push the "Perfect Package" movement through a single agency, the American Railway association, an organization of practically all railroads and steamship lines. Express agents everywhere will join with the railroad people in conducting the campaign.

CASES IN THE SUPERIOR COURT

At the opening of this morning's session of the superior court a jury was empaneled in the case of James M. Harris vs. Dora Chase and James M. Harris vs. Albert E. Brooks, actions of tort by which the plaintiff is seeking to recover damages for personal injuries. It is claimed by the plaintiff that on May 30, 1920, while he was operating his motorcycle on the Nashua road in Chelmsford, he was struck by an automobile owned by Albert E. Brooks and operated by Dora Chase, and as a result he received serious injuries to his legs. After the jury was empaneled a view of the scene of the accident was taken and this afternoon the case went to trial.

The case of Francis Coe vs. George Scannell, an action of tort by which the plaintiff seeks to recover for alleged personal injuries, which he claims he received when the vehicle upon which he was riding, was struck by an automobile operated by the defendant and which went to trial at the civil session of the superior court yesterday morning, was brought to a close this noon when Judge Bishop charged the jury. The ad damnum in this case is $15,000.

A continued investigation of the circumstances that caused the death of four year old Thomas Boyle, of Sayles street, who was found in a dying condition on Middlesex street near Foster Saturday evening and died shortly after, has failed to reveal any information that could lead the authorities to solve the mystery as to how the child met his fatal injuries.

Medical Examiner Dr. Thomas B. Smith states that he is making a thorough investigation with the assistance of the police, but is unable to locate anyone who can furnish high on the mystery. It is the medical examiner's opinion that the youth probably was struck by a vehicle. In-

GERMAN CABINET PLANS TO RESIGN

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—Dr. Joseph Wirth, German chancellor, was believed here today to be preparing to submit the resignation of his ministry to President Ebert. Official announcement of the decision of the Council of the League of Nations relative to the partition of Upper Silesia, was expected momentarily and it was thought the cabinet could not long survive if the official text confirmed the press despatches giving details of the action of the council.

Political conditions in Germany would seem to indicate a growing opposition to the continuance in power of the radical political parties.

Extraordinary scenes followed the reopening of the house yesterday. Bankers and brokers were swamped with orders, and had great difficulty in establishing quotations. Foreign exchange rates soared to new heights, offerings being so scarce and the demand so overwhelming that buyers were allotted only a portion of the lots they desired. Those who were purchasing dollars were allotted 20 per cent. of their orders.

Asks Change of Venue

against him he transferred to the superior court.

The change of venue was asked on the ground that the five justices of the supreme court who heard the evidence upon which Nathan A. Tufts, district attorney of Middlesex county, was removed from office recently, have already formed an opinion in regard to two of the cases cited in the charges against Coakley. These cases were among those on which Tufts was tried.

William J. Corcoran, former district attorney of Middlesex county, another of the attorneys named in the proceedings, sent a communication saying that at the time the proceedings were instituted, he was a resident of New York. He asked the right to resign as a member of the Massachusetts bar.

The third attorney involved, Daniel V. McIsaac, was present in court with Coakley. Judge Braley ordered them to file their answers by Nov. 7 at which time he said he would consider Coakley's motion, Corcoran's disclaimer and the question whether the cases would be tried together.

MILL EMPLOYEES PLAN BIG AFFAIR

Big Vote Looked For

booths or outside the buildings waiting to get in. Few women rode to the polling places, most of them walking from their homes.

At noon the indications were that a splendid vote would be recorded in most of the precincts. Some election officials predict a vote of 18,000, but others believe that 15,000 would be a better figure when predicting totals.

The paying contract election August 2, brought out 13,922 voters. The election last week on a wage proposition showed 13,541 voters.

Ballots were cast early at the Market street polling place, precinct 1, ward 1. The total was 104 at 11:30 o'clock; 10 women had voted. There were more voters around this polling place than was the case a week ago.

Warden Daniel J. McCaffrey said he looked for a vote of between 6 o'clock as that recorded at the "paying by contract" election.

"There is more interest being shown in today's ballot," he said. "More voters are turning out, and there is more discussion of the merits of the question."

Fifty-three had voted at 10:30 o'clock in precinct 2, ward 2, with more than 20 women's names checked. It took "like a 300 vote" in that precinct, the warden said. Early voting was the rule, with 23 votes cast before 8 o'clock. There are 452 voters listed. The vote at the last election was 719. Captain John Burns was on duty here, keeping the doors closed and the booth warm.

Precinct 3, ward 2, down in the "gas district," was popular with women voters, 50 voting before 11 o'clock, against a total of 73 male voters. Women walked down the streets and entered the booths without engaging in conversation with anyone. They were fine examples of sincere voters anxious to register their sentiments without ostentation.

The vote was really heavy in this precinct, with 128 voting before 11 o'clock against a total of only 67 last week. Precinct Officer John Flynn predicted a big vote from the early morning indications. He said the voters were "talking more about the charter than they ever did before."

In precinct 1, ward 7, 174 votes were cast before 10:30. The normal vote is around 900, and the voters never come out in large numbers much before 6 o'clock. Interest in Pawtucketville was not very lively this morning, and few women were voting up to noon time. The warden said an average vote would come along later.

In precinct 2, ward 7, twenty women voted before 10 a. m., and more than 100 male voters dropped their ballots into the machine. Several women were voting when the Sun man called. They had no trouble marking ballots quickly and depositing them without comment.

"They are the best voters we have," remarked a precinct officer. Patrolman Noonan said the ladies were on hand about as early as anyone, and he looked for a 50-50 vote.

Ward 6 casts as good a vote as that recorded at the "contract labor" election. In precinct 1, there was an excellent early vote. Eighteen ballots were dropped into the box within a few minutes after the polls were opened. At 11 a. m. the total was 23.

A normal vote in this precinct would be about 1500. This is one of the so-called "ear shop precincts," and more voters turn out after 1:30 p. m. than before. Precinct officials said this morning that if the early vote had any men, a small avalanche of ballots would come along late in the day. Ward 6 all through showed considerable interest in today's ballot, officials reported.

Precinct 1, ward 3, reported 713 ballots cast just before noon. Twenty-five women voted. This vote is an indication of the feeling of a majority of the electors for up to noon last week, only a few more than 60 persons, male and female, had voted. There is twice the interest shown today, according to ward 3 officials. Warden Gierow said the polling place was filled during the first two hours, early voters being numerous.

As the school building, Patrolman Jack Lecky, on duty at this polling place, was busier than some other policemen in the outlying districts. The voters and school children marched through the front doors together.

Over in precinct 3, ward 3, the morning figures were 215, with more women voting than last time. The late afternoon is the popular period for the feminine ballot casters, the officials said. Patrolman Hill was on deck here as usual, and providing every one with general information.

More than 50 per cent of the morning votes cast in precinct 1, ward 5, were placed in the boxes by women. There was a total of 273 at 11 a. m. Yet the officials called it a "slow day." The average vote here is around 1200. There are 1905 registered. Officials look for a 1500 ballot with a late rush to check in.

Voters out Chelmsford St. way are placed in precinct 2, ward 3, 175 doing well in precinct 1, ward 5, a far better showing than last time. Many women are voting here—possibly 50 more than last week, the officials said. A late vote is looked for here, too.

Precinct 2, ward 1, Elm street, was a busy place all the morning; total 133, far better figures than was the case a week ago. Clerk Ralph C. Harvey predicted a record-breaker in this precinct. He said the total was but 60 last week up to 11 o'clock, and the afternoon voting here is always heavy when the ballot is interesting.

In ward 5, precinct 2, five women had voted and 75 men up to 11 o'clock. It was somewhat small, but a better record than last time.

Precinct 3, ward 3, officials liked the looks of things in the voting line. Thirty women voted before 10 o'clock, and several were coming down the street right afterward. The total at 10:30 was 135, both sexes. Last week at this time only 50 voted. Officials predicted a "more than normal vote."

Warden Frank Breakey in charge of the ballot box. They said the voting was brisk for a special election.

Precinct 1, ward 5, reported 61 ballots cast, few women voting early. They expect to register about 300 votes here, only a normal amount.

Precinct 2, ward 3, announced 253 votes just before noon, with voting "slow." There appeared to be few women voters anxious to go to the ballot box in the morning, but election officers predicted a real "tidy wave" of femininity before 6 o'clock.

Numerous women workers vote about that time, or between 5 and 6. Automobiles were employed in this ward aiding voters who could not walk to the polls. Patrolman William F. Murphy looked after all police arrangements in good shape.

Centralville voters were doing fine around noon, with a total of 191 registered ballots in precinct 2, ward 1, at noon. Fifty-one women had voted by that time. The voters were coming along later at about an average of 40 an hour, officials said. The

Precinct 3, ward 1, announced 235 ballots dropped at 11:30. Half of the number were marked by women voters. It was said, "The latter never turned out so heavily in the morning. The Sun men were told."

The other precincts of the city reported voting as "better than last time." Precinct 1, ward 2, figures were 76 at 11, 10 women voting there early. Warden Queenan and Patrolmen McGreevy and Conroy were looking after the booth in the shape and answering all questions shot at them by anxious voters and newspapermen.

Precinct 3, ward 6, voters showed much more interest in today's ballot, 126 voting before 11:30. There were 1250 names on the lists here, and it is expected that more than 200 will vote today. Michael Sullivan considered it a rather light vote up to the noon, but said the afternoon rush might even up matters, although the voters were discussing the charter question more this morning than ever before, he believed.

Over in precinct 4, ward 4, the "real campaign" was on early. At noon it was reported that more than four times the vote cast at the last special election, was recorded in this precinct, and political workers said increasing interest was being shown all through the ward.

proved of the Scannell Boiler works as sub-contractors.

Mr. Wier said it was not a matter of law, but one of morals and policy by the city. Mr. Regan then said he wished the moral side left out of the discussion as lawyers were not generally considered as being over-endowed with morals.

This was the result of the discussion of Section 21 of the specifications of the contract which said the construction company was not to let out a sub contract without the written consent and approval of the municipal council.

Mr. Wier then said he understood the sub-committee which was appointed to look after the work on the bridge had met and after a discussion had voted 2 to 1 against the construction company.

Mr. Regan said this was not so and that the vote he submitted was but a rough one and that the committee had not yet considered it. Mr. Wier claimed a clause which was inserted in Mr. Regan's vote would take away the legal right of the construction company even if the matter were brought to court and decided in favor of the company. It was here he accused Mr. Regan of attempting to get a straight hold on the company.

Murphy Makes Statement
The sub-committee on the bridge work is composed of Mr. Regan, City Engineer Ketrury and Commissioner Murphy. Mr. Murphy addressed the council and made it plain just which member of the committee had cast a vote in favor of the company. He said he had sat in on a few conferences but was finally swung over to the construction company's side by a letter which explained matters. He said he favored the vote as submitted by Mr. Wier inasmuch as the city should do what was right by the company. He said he did not think any judge or whomever the case happened to come before in case it went to the courts, would consider a pyramiding of costs such as Mr. Regan was trying to guard against.

Mr. Regan said he was not so sure about his (Regan's) vote as submitted. He again laid stress on the fact his vote was only a rough one.

Mayor Thompson interferred and said he was not sure on all points involved but it seemed that Messrs. Regan and Wier were at odds over a certain part of both votes. The mayor then suggested that the parties get together and attempt to reach an agreement. But Mr. Wier said: "Mr. Regan and I cannot reach an agreement; we are well," here Mr. Regan put the words into his mouth by saying, "We have come to the parting of the ways on this subject."

The mayor said in that case he thought the council members should have more time to talk the thing over and to become more conversant with the topic. He said he could not vote in favor of anything Mr. Wier had to offer when the city solicitor, who was paid by the city to guide the council in legal affairs, and the city engineer, a man supposed to be an expert in his line, refused to sanction Mr. Wier's vote.

Mayor Offers Questions
The mayor said he would offer two questions to the council. The first would be "Shall we consider this question at this time and pass judgment on it?" The second came on the acceptance of one of the two votes as submitted. The second question never came up for the first was defeated in the following order: Salomon, yes; Donnelly, no; Marchand, no; Murphy, yes.

The matter was then tabled until next week. In the meantime Mr. Regan and Mr. Wier will talk the matter over and Mr. Regan will have a more complete vote ready to submit.

Petition Hearings
A hearing on the petition of the New England Telephone and Telegraph company to erect a pole on Cedar street, was opened. Patrick Rogers appeared for the company and explained it was to furnish service. Mrs. Elizabeth Rogers, 29 Cedar street, appeared in opposition. She claimed she was a property owner on that street and at the present the street was too narrow to permit more poles. She claimed it was hardly wide enough to pass through owing to the number of poles there now.

The mayor was asked to permit the streets and highway commission. The removal of a pole on Dutton street and the relocation of a pole opposite 529 Lakeview avenue by the same company was referred to the streets and highways commission.

The petition of Nellie Cassidy for a garage license at 15 Maple street was read. A hearing was ordered for November 3.

Hearings were set for November 1 on petitions of the New England Tel. and Tel. company for one pole on Bartlett street and two poles on Pine street.

The petition of George E. Mongeau for a granite sidewalk at the corner of Merrimack and Dutton streets was referred to Commissioner Murphy's department.

Hearings were submitted by the election commission and accepted. An order for a gas light on Chatham street near No. 94 was rescinded. An order for an incandescent light in the same location was adopted.

An order was adopted authorizing the payment of $45.50 to John H. Clancy, 55 Gershon avenue for damages to his hot water boiler caused when some city employee shut off the water without notification. Mr. Regan agreed to a settlement with Mr. Clancy.

A bill from Sullivan Brothers of $54.72 for printing, approved by the commissioner of finance, was ordered paid.

A claim of Marietta A. Hubin, 25 Bunkerhill street, against the city for $500 for personal injuries she alleges to have obtained from an alleged fall on Lakeview avenue on Oct. 3, was referred to Mayor Thompson and Mr. Regan. A letter accompanied the claim was but not read owing to its extreme length.

NINE POUNDS TAKING TANLAC AND SAYS HEALTH IS

"I just want to give a little history of my case and let my friends and everybody else know what a blessing Tanlac has been to me," declared Mrs. Leonie Dupuy, who resides on Bunkerhill street, Boston.

"I certainly did suffer from stomach trouble before taking Tanlac and I kept losing weight and strength until I was in an awful run-down condition. I don't know how many different medicines I tried but I kept getting worse all the time. Everything I ate seemed to sour in my stomach and I had such awful attacks of indigestion that they would almost kill me at times. I had splitting headaches, too, and such frightful dizzy spells everything seemed to be going around in a circle. I was so nervous that my sleep was broken and restless, and I felt weak and without all the time."

"I knew Tanlac was helping me before I finished my very first bottle, and a few bottles of the medicine have restored me to perfect health and built me up nine pounds in weight besides. I relish all my meals, never feel a sign of indigestion, or have an ache or pain of any kind. My nerves are in such good condition that my sleep is sound and refreshing, and that tired, worn-out feeling has entirely disappeared. Tanlac has brought me health, strength and happiness. I hope my statement will be of benefit in helping others to learn of this wonderful medicine."

"Tex Rickard is giving us a lot of new faces at the Garden this winter," says a line—Take Bob Martin's face for instance after he hit Pay Keiser.

"It must be pretty soft," writes B. R. B., "for these sportsmen who don't have anything but sport to think about all day long."

But is it? Are there any business men who are busier and more business like than Jack Dempsey, Alex Stirling, Ty Cobb, Babe Ruth, Molla Bjurstedt, Jim Barnes—and others too numerous to mention?

It may look like play for those who get only a smacking of the great outdoors now and then, but those who make it a business probably would call your job recreation.

To those who make sport a business, play is work. They spend days of worry and study, and are always at a high nervous tension. That is expected of them.

Dempsey, Barnes, Ruth, Ty and the rest seldom smile when "on the job." Their minds are centered on their work. They have to deliver—and often that requires as much or more effort than the operation of a big business.

EPITAPH

Here lies the body of Peter McKnight,
Who drank some home brew 'fore he went to a fight.
He kicked on the winner, a home pugilist,
And cashed in his checks at the end of a fist.

And now comes the season when baseball's stars go on the stage to show audiences what good baseball players they are.

Five members of the Martins Ferry (O.) High team break their noses in one night of practice, says news item. For one night of practice, we'd say that's a good record.

WITH football only a few weeks old, we hear the wails and whimpers of coaches at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Ohio State and other schools, becoming the fact that they'll have to revamp the team. The lines are weak, the ends aren't fast enough, the forward pass must be perfected, and the back field in general is the bunk. But outta all this sadness and death comes a single light—

"The team is coming along nicely," says Coach Dobie of Cornell.

It goes into a prize fight 'ouse to see a prize fight fit,
It was a bloomin' bloody thing, before 'twas hover wit'.
'e 'it 'im wit' the bucket at every other poke,
Then crowned 'im wit' the corner post—this bloomin' bloke
The referee, 'e stood there, laughing fit to die,
And I turned to the laddy beside me, and he says to him, says hi
"Why don't they stop the battle, me good man, 'tis a fright?"
"O'wan, you're ontta bounds," says 'e, "this 'ere's a champeen fight."

"The bag limit for a duck hunter," says Baird, director of conservation of Michigan, "is 25 in one day, but a hunter may have in his possession 50 at one time."

CADETS' VIEW OF RECENT GAME

Sporting Editor, Lowell Sun:

With reference to the Indians Second's statement, I do not dispute their claim for the city championship, of their class—that is, 170 pounds. Three weeks previous to Sunday Capt. Quinn of the Indians Second and I (Capt. O'Connor) of the Cadets, made all arrangements for the game. The former gave me a written lineup. I also gave him the same. Sunday afternoon just before the game, before the Indians Second's statement, I called on the Cadets' manager, Capt. Quinn, to see if he had any changes in his lineup. This left me in a predicament. I would be justified in calling my players off to fight. In doing this we would be called quitters (as the Indians Second never had), so we played under the circumstances being outwitted twenty rounds a man. Playing with the Indians Second was going to play anyway, whose names were in the lineup I was given. They were Turner, Conlin, Cunningham and P. Quinn; the others were ringer. This only proved the Cadets have one of the fastest teams of its size, when they have to put stars in to lead them. Before the Indians Second scored their first touchdown they had the ball on the 10-yard line with a goal to go. This they failed to do. They crossed the goal line, who thought they crossed the goal line, who found out otherwise, came rushing in with this ball, that is, the Cadets' quarterback—was offside. This was impossible as I played secondary defense. After a thorough investigation it was learned his reason for doing this. The Cadets are all going for games with any 140 pound team, send all challenges through this paper.

Yours in clean sport,
CAPT. DANIEL O'CONNOR.

THE RAILROAD STRIKE

It is confidently expected that President Harding and the Railroad Labor board will succeed in averting the threatened railroad strike which at this time would be something in the nature of a calamity to the entire country. It would not, however, entail the suffering that such a strike would have brought some ten or fifteen years ago, for the reason that the motor truck is abroad in the land and is already a very active instrumentality in the transportation of freight. Every large city has much of its freight carried and handled by motor trucks. The reports would of course depend largely upon the shipping interests to care for them during a railroad strike.

There is much difference of opinion in reference to where the responsibility should be placed for the threatened strike. In some quarters the unions are saddled with the entire blame. We do not see it in that light. The Railroad Labor board reduced the wages of the railroad employees 15 per cent, operative from the first of July last. The unions were not quite satisfied with that cut, although they did not peremptorily reject it. The fact, however, that the railroads did not make any reductions in rates, led the unions to withhold the acceptance of that reduction, and accordingly when a number of the railroad executives decided to ask another reduction in wages, which would be passed to the consumers in lower freight rates, the railroad men began to complain and very naturally so, when it appeared that the railroad cuts, if any, would have to come out of the wages of the employees. Hence the threat to strike is now to be put into effect unless called off.

It is understood now, that a compromise is proposed, having for its object the acceptance of the 12 per cent. cut by the men on condition that the roads will offer a reduction in rates equal to the saving in wages resulting from that reduction. The Labor Board would thereafter deal with wage reductions in a manner that would seem to be equitable, and warranted by the prevailing cost of living.

The Esch-Cummings law provides that railroad disputes of this kind, shall be referred to a federal tribunal representing the roads, the workers and the public. A strike against a decision of the labor board as proposed, would, therefore, be a declaration by the unions that they are not ready to accept the provisions of that law or rather that they set it at defiance.

In this railroad controversy the general public has a primary interest in the continued service of the railroads and it is incumbent upon the government authorities at Washington to see that some settlement be made if the parties concerned are willing to agree upon any compromise measure.

If the unions defy the law, they will find that their power will soon be broken, and they will lose in the end, whereas by submitting to a reasonable compromise, they can attain much better terms than they will ever get by a strike. The country is in a mood to tolerate a great railroad strike at the present time, and although the threat is made, we do not believe the unions will be so rash as to carry it into effect.

CITY CHARTERS

Like others, we favored the adoption of the city charter now in force under the assumption that business men could secure election and give the city the benefit of their judgment, experience and ability to direct large affairs. We freely admit that in this we were wholly mistaken as we find that men who make a business of politics capture most of the places and that the average business man is completely shut out. The commission charter became popular because of what a small body of business men did for the city of Galveston after the tidal wave disaster; but they were the leading men of the city.

If we could select five of the leading business men of Lowell to serve as commissioners there would be little reason to chance the charter, although the system is wrong in principle; but the politicians have made it impossible to elect business men and they have used the municipal departments to perpetuate themselves in office. That is why a change is needed: why the hopes of the citizens in adopting the present charter in 1911 have been blasted.

What we need now, as heretofore, is a charter that will make it possible to elect business men to the city council despite the opposition of the politicians. Two features of the proposed charter are calculated to attain that end. They are: and representation and a reduction in the salary of commissioners from $2500 to $1000.

Moreover, the fact that nearly all the city departments have become political machines offers another reason for without a charter of this form of city government, judging from the few men elected to office under this charter, is fast becoming a political charade with the proper cannot disguise.

THAT BIG LIEB SUIT

That Lieb suit for $100,000 brought against the city of Lowell was promptly thrown out of court by Judge Foster, the justice under whom the case was brought.

The judge is declaring that there was no ground for a suit against a few wholesome principles, stating that while there are laws against soliciting money and personal domination, still public policy and public order have been maintained and even encouraged the free action of men in public office.

The judge said that if the press were to keep new breakers may soon lose their foam.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

From the Central street merchants come numerous complaints relative to the new city ordinance, which does not allow parking in Central street from Market street to Third street. The merchants do not object so much to autos not being allowed to park, but they feel that machines should be allowed to stop a few minutes as is the case in the Merrimack street district. One business man of the district states that since the ordinance has been in effect a decrease has been noted in business in that part of the city. Autos, who formerly did their trading in Central street, have shifted their buying to parts of the city where they can stop their cars without breaking the law. It is said: It is rumored that there is a movement on foot among the Central street merchants to present a petition to the city council requesting that automobiles be allowed to park in their district for brief periods, as in other business centers. Some of the business men claim they are being discriminated against and they insist that the traffic rules be amended.

In walking through the local Greek colony, one's interest is aroused by the great number of live fowl displayed in wire pens outside the numerous markets. Our Hellenic neighbors must be extremely partial to a chicken diet, and the fact that they prefer to buy fresh fowl "on the hoof" shows that they do not intend to contribute much to the support of the cold storage concerns.

With costs of building material so high, it is surprising that there should be so much construction work going on in the city. In fact, most of the work in progress is remodeling rather than new construction, but there is one building at the corner of Market and Jefferson streets which promises to be particularly attractive when finished. A few more buildings of this type would make a decided improvement in the general appearance of the district.

With all the talk of unemployment which all ears at the present time, the public dance halls are prospering to a surprising degree. On Monday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights the dance halls are thronged with young people who seem to worry not at all about unemployment, or, in fact, anything more important than the latest jazz steps. Times may be hard and money hard to get, but the dancers seem to manage to find enough ready cash to indulge in their favorite pastime.

Yesterday afternoon while walking up East Merrimack street I met some little children playing in the gutter. The little tots were clothed in ragged and one of their number was barefooted. They had a plucked, half-starved look in their faces and looked about half fed. Just as I reached them one of them shouted, "Look, there are some peanuts!" Immediately began a wild scramble for a few salted peanuts, the law of the gutter. These children seemed to me to be as needy as the starving children of Europe. It seems to me that charity should begin at home.

I see the Kuryer Codzienny (Polish Daily News) is to issue its seventh anniversary number, Tuesday, November 1. It will be a Lowell-Lawrence number, and contain news items of interest to local Polish residents. The Kuryer is a fine newspaper in every respect and always contains items of current interest to Polish readers, who take considerable pride in this American newspaper published in the native language.

Got your winter coat in yet? Well, you are not the only ones who haven't. However, the advice of Lowell dealers is to "get your order in early." Prices have not been boosted here yet, but there is no telling when 50 cents will be added to the price. Boston already has the advance notice, but Lowell dealers haven't felt it necessary to charge any more than the summer rates as yet.

Undertaking establishments will probably never be popular ports of call. There is something about them that—well, uninviting! And yet I know of one establishment where you can drop in and be royally entertained, if you forget where you are. The other day I had an assignment on Market st., and some of the numbers—or lack of numbers on the street doors were so confusing that I decided to tackle Undertaker Molloy for advice. I was soon placed on the right track and was even offered the use of the telephone if I desired it. In making up your list of good fellows don't fail to mention Undertaker Molloy. But I find all the undertakers are mighty fine fellows.

I noticed today that the cold spell that came on Sunday night caused the manager of a certain local theatre to make a change in a sign prominently displayed outside the entrance. As a matter of fact the notice in question was a good piece of advertising for a sweltering hot summer day, but just at this time of year it would have had much to do in keeping would-be patrons from going in. The sign formerly read "Coolest theatre in the city." The letters spelling "coolest" have been removed, however, although nothing has yet been substituted in their place. Perhaps the manager is still undecided as to what feature he shall use for the winter season.

I heard much praise during the last few days for the brave deed performed by Officer Edward J. Trudel, who captured John N. Santos, the alleged burglar, Saturday night in a dark alley after he had seriously shot a man. That the officer approached the man who had a minute before fired two shots at a fellow citizen, still holding the smoking revolver, is recognized as a brave act by the people of the community, and says ready to applaud a heroic deed in the public service.

Justice Enright of the local district court can stand about anything but out of town persons who come to Lowell to perform their recent decisions in a while offenders are brought into court who hail from nearby Massachusetts or New Hampshire cities. The justice lets them know what he thinks about them. The justice recently told a drunken offender who had come to Lowell from a New Hampshire city: "If you come to Lowell to get drunk again I'll send you straight to the house of correction. We have enough of your kind right here in this city without having more imported from outside."

SEEN AND HEARD

This is normalcy; we are kicking for abnormality.

When things begin to look dark it's time to brighten up.

A cat in the house is worth two on the fence.

"Say limb or leg," advises a Boston paper. How about "bootlimbers?"

The Poor Book!

A homely young English chap, having his view obstructed by the head of the girl in front of him, ventured to protest. "See here, miss," he said, leaning over "I want to look as well as you do." "O, do you?" she replied in a rich cockney accent. Then you'd better run 'ome and change your face.

Cure For Deafness

The young mother was worried over her youngster. "Sometimes I think there is something the matter with his ears," she said, "for he does not answer me when I speak to him, and often he doesn't seem to understand that I've given him any directions. I wonder if I should take him to an ear specialist. The mother of four grinned. "I've found just such deafness among my children," she said, "but I didn't let it worry me." "What do you do for it?" inquired the young mother anxiously. "Why, I just spanked 'em all round," was the reply, "and they heard beautifully for several months after that!"

Defending the Pup

Mr. Hindleton appeared at his neighbor's door one evening in a towering rage and uttering fierce threats against the neighbor's dog Pongo. "I ain't the neighbor tried to explain that Pongo was only a puppy. It belongs to Johnny," he said, "and it would break his heart if anything happened to it. I think," hopefully, "that its manners will improve." "Manners!" repeated Hindleton. "I'm not complaining of its manners but its nature. After it had jumped all over me it hit the back of my leg." "That's as far as it can reach," broke in Johnny in a wounded tone. "You don't expect a little pup like that to bite a big man like you on the neck?"

What's in a Name?

Father wanted "Fairview." And mother said "It's End." Pongo called it "Hick House." And Helen "River Bend."

Molly urged for "Apple Hill." While Harry begged for "Grog." Sarah's name was "Sunset Lodge." And Janet's "Hillyloft."

Though Penelope chose "The Poplar Tree," And Granddad "Kensmore Hall." It's two years since we bought the place.

And it has no name at all.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store, all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.—Adv.

Actress Tells Secret

Tells How to Darken Gray Hair With a Home-Made Mixture

Julius Williams, the well known American actor, recently made the following statement about gray hair and how to darken it with a home-made mixture:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will gradually darken gray, streaked or faded hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, 2 small cups of Harba Compound, and 1 ounce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the hair, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.—Adv.

RIOT OVER SACCO AND VANZETTI IN ITALY

ROME, Oct. 18.—Demonstrations by radicals are occurring regularly in protest against the sentencing to death in the United States of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, the two Italians convicted last summer of murdering Frederick A. Parmenter, paymaster of a shoe plant at Braintree, Mass. One person was injured in Rome and large numbers of the radicals and police clashed between the radicals and police. Similar demonstrations were held at Genoa and Turin.

The Giornale d'Italia says: "These demonstrations against the United States follow what is presumed to be an unproved case of homicide, and it is hoped by humanity and civilization that a retrial will be granted. We observe that there are unjust demonstrations against the Ambassador."

Berton Brateley's Daily Poem The Limit

The lady just east of my flat Possesses a shrill-singing cat. The people below Have a poodle or so— Their barking is loud but I hear it; The man at my west has a guano Which wakes me at dawn with its stool. It's a bit of a strain But I still remained sane Till the lady above got a parrot. I find am able to laugh In spite of each about phonograph; When tennis balls have fancies For two-o'clock dances It's fun, and I'm willing to share it; But oh, gentle lady above, Though I'm blind, quite as mild as a dove. You'd grow pallid in time If you had but a hint Of the things that I think of that parrot! I'm sick of that maddening screech Which you imply imagine is speech; That bird to his cage Makes me purple with rage. And as for my hair—well, I tear it; I hate to be rascous and rough, But, listening enough, I hear you Put the muffler upon That darn post, or I swear You'll be mourning the death of a parrot! ## COL. BORDEN DIES SUDDENLY WOODSTOCK, Vt., Oct. 15.—Col. Spencer Borden, aged 72, a well known manufacturer and chemist of Fall River, Mass., died suddenly of heart trouble at the Woodstock Inn yesterday.

Associated With Edison
FALL RIVER, Oct. 15.—Col. Borden, who gained his rank as an aid on the staff of Governor W. E. Russell, was associated with Thomas A. Edison in his early work and organized his New England business. He was an inventor of mechanical, electrical and chemical appliances.

As a breeder of Morgan and Arabian horses Colonel Borden was prominent. He promoted the first endurance race ever held in New England. Colonel Borden is survived by his wife and four children, Spencer of Fall River, Mrs. Lura B. Trafford of Boston, Alfred B. and Mrs. William F. Darrach of New York. The funeral will be held at Fall River.

LEVELING SAND AND GRAVEL BANK

A gang of men from the park department is at work this week grading off a sand and gravel bank along the Rogers street entrance to the Lowell cemetery, adjoining Shedd park. After the bank has been reduced to the desired level, sods will be laid so that next year the appearance of this particular spot will be greatly improved.

While the present brand of weather holds out there will be a good opportunity for the department to remove many rough spots of this description from the landscape, and Superintendent John W. Kernan seems to favor doing as much of this work as possible.

Resume Irish Peace Conference Thursday

LONDON, Oct. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—The conference between Irish leaders and representatives of the British government will, it is expected in Sinn Fein quarters, be resumed Thursday. The interruption of the sessions after yesterday's meeting was due solely to the engagements of Mr. Lloyd George, the prime minister, in connection with the reopening of parliament. Meanwhile the committees of the conference composed of the other members, will hold sessions for the advancement of the conference's work. Several Irish experts have been summoned to London to advise the Sinn Fein delegates and draw up reports for the consideration of the conference.

MOTHER, QUICK! MOVE CHILD'S BOWELS WITH CALIFORNIA "FIG SYRUP"

Hurry mother! Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup" and it never fails to open the bowels. A teaspoonful today may prevent a sick child tomorrow. It flows for babies and children of all constitutions, bilious, feverish, fretful, ages printed on bottle. Mother, you have cold, cold, or if stomach is sour, must say "California" or you may get tongue coated, breath bad, remember an imitation fig syrup.—Adv.

Consider Freight Rate Reduction

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The impression was given in administration quarters today that a freight rate reduction was under consideration. There was no statement to indicate how soon a decision on the question might be reached but high administration officials vouchsafed the information that an announcement concerning the rate readjustment might come within a few days. It was made plain that the consideration being given to the rate question was independent of the present labor wage tangle and the threatened walkout of the railroad employees. Ground for the assumption that the rate question had been discussed between the president and the public group of the railroad labor board yesterday was given in several quarters. But official silence was maintained.

Legioners to Attend, if Forced to Hike

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 18.—Delegates to the national convention to the American Legion to be held in Kansas City, Oct. 31 to Nov. 2, will go to the convention city before the general railroad strike is scheduled to go into effect, and "will abide by the fortunes of war when it comes to getting back," according to a statement issued at headquarters of the legion here today. "We risked more than inconvenience to reach objectives in 1918," wrote a New Jersey post commander. "Nothing can keep us from our convention now." A post adjutant from Utah wrote that the delegation from that post would be at the convention if it was necessary to hike the distance.

Wrangel's Entire Fortune Lost

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—General Baron Wrangel's entire personal fortune; his wife's jewels, valued at 40,000 francs, and important documents of the Crimean government were lost on Saturday when the yacht Lavall, on which the head of the former anti-Bolshevik government in south Russia lived, was sunk by the British steamer Adria. Divers may be able to recover part of the treasure. Russians here advance the theory that the sinking of the boat was the result of a plot by the Bolsheviks. They charge the pilot was bribed, but this accusation is not supported in other circles.

Tufts Honors Memory of First President

MEDFORD, Oct. 18.—The 125th anniversary of the birth of Rev. Dr. Hosea Ballou, one of the founders and the first president of Tufts college, was observed today with a reunion at the college of the Ballou family association. President John A. Cousens of Tufts, and James R. Garfield of Cleveland, former secretary of the interior, were among the speakers at commemorative exercises.

Business Men Volunteer to Run Trains

MONTCLAIR, N. Y., Oct. 18.—One hundred business men who commute daily from points along the Erie from Essex Falls to New York, have volunteered to operate trains over the route if the threatened railway strike materializes, it was announced today. At a meeting last night, they decided to first line up sufficient volunteers to man the commutation trains and then take up the question of hauling food and fuel.

Consul of Dail Eireann in New York

BELFAST, Oct. 18.—Joseph Connolly of Belfast has been appointed consul of the Dail Eireann in New York, replacing G. L. Fawcitt, who has assumed a position under the Dail Eireann's Economic representative in America. Mr. Connolly sailed for New York last Saturday.

Expect Final Vote On Treaty Today

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—A final vote on ratification of the peace treaty with Germany was expected by both republican and democratic leaders in the senate today. If necessary, it was said a night session would be held.

LLOYD GEORGE TO TO VOTE FOR RATIFICATION

Tells Commons He Hopes to Attend Arms Conference at Washington

Announces Make-up of British Delegation—Dominions to be Represented

LONDON, Oct. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—Premier Lloyd George stated in the house of commons, upon the resumption of that body today, that he hoped to go to the Washington conference on the limitation of armaments and far Eastern problems as soon as the parliamentary and general situation rendered it possible. The other members of the British delegation, the premier said, would be A. J. Balfour and Lord Lee of Farnham, first lord of the admiralty. Sir Auckland Geddes, the British ambassador at Washington, would act as a delegate, Mr. Lloyd George adding, in the absence of the premier or any other delegate.

The dominions said the premier, will be represented as follows: Canada—Sir Robert L. Borden. Australia—George Foster Pearce. New Zealand—Sir John Salmond. India—Sir George S. Sastri. South Africa—Sir Jan Smuts.

The premier said the British delegation would be headed by Admiral Beatty, commander of the Grand Fleet, who would be succeeded in due course by Admiral Chaddock.

Lord Lee of Farnham, who was in charge of the British army operations in Italy in the last year of the war, would be the principal military expert, and Air Marshal Higgins would be the aviation expert, the premier stated, while the secretary of the delegation would be Sir Maurice Hankey, who has been secretary of the cabinet since 1910.

THE "ROAD HOG"

An instance of utter disregard for the "key to the right" rule on public highways was observed today at the junction of Rogers and South streets. A horse and wagon, city-bound, and a touring car were approaching each other on Rogers street, the touring car on the wrong side of the street. They met at a point just below Nesmith street and the driver of the horse was compelled to yield his right of way to avoid a collision. As the motorist showed no inclination to return to his own side of the road, one of the city streets it has been customary to cross to the wrong side on account of paying defects, but usually the right of way rule is scrupulously observed.

KLAN PROBE UNDS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The proposed investigation of the Ku Klux Klan by congress blew up yesterday. After a ten-minute session, which closed with the house rules committee, which at morning and afternoon sessions put William J. Simmons, the Klan's imperial wizard, through a rigid investigation, voted unanimously not to call any more witnesses, certainly at this time.

Sen. Hitchcock, Democratic Leader, Explains His Stand in Supporting Treaty

Sen. Johnson Also Declares He Will Support Pact—Flays Hughes' Views

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Re-establishment of peace with Germany as necessary for American and world rehabilitation was the fundamental reason given in the senate today by Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, ranking democratic member and former chairman of the foreign relations committee, for favoring ratification of the peace treaty with Germany.

"The question before us now," said Senator Hitchcock, "is not a choice between the Versailles treaty and the pending treaty, but between the pending treaty and a protracted uncertainty without any treaty."

Declaring that the American electorate had "commissioned" foreign affairs to President Harding, Senator Hitchcock continued: "I cannot bring myself to vote against the ratification of this treaty when I know that the only alternative will be to prevent a peace settlement with Germany and will leave everything in a state of uncertainty. This existing state of uncertainty is disastrous and I for one shall not vote to prolong it. One of the necessary steps to end it is a peace settlement with Germany and the resumption of business relations with that great country."

American Interests Protected

Senator Hitchcock said that the pending treaty protected American interests as much as the Versailles covenant and that it would not change the American attitude toward the League of Nations.

"After this treaty is ratified," he declared, "we can enter the league just as easily as we can now and this treaty does not raise the slightest obstacle against such action."

"I have been asked sometimes," Senator Hitchcock continued, "how I as a democrat could vote for a separate peace with Germany when the democratic platform of last year declared against a separate peace with Germany. The answer is that that was one of the issues of the last campaign and was settled by the last campaign. It was settled against the democrats and it will never be an issue again in a campaign."

The senator contended that it was "high time" for the United States to resume friendly relations with the German people, and he urged that the United States appoint a member on the allied reparations commission.

The present treaty, he said, would be followed by other treaties with Germany.

Sen. Johnson in Accord

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—With a vote on ratification of the German peace treaty expected today, Senator Johnson, republican, California, an "irreconcilable" of the Versailles treaty fight, opened the day's discussion in the senate with a statement explaining his position in favor of ratification.

He said he could not subscribe to the views of other "irreconcilables" that the treaty would be likely to involve this country in European entanglements.

The senator declared unalterable opposition, however, to America's joining the allied reparations commission. The views of Secretary Hughes in favor of such representation, he said, "constitute the danger of the future."

Secretary Hughes, the senator declared, was "one of those who would have taken us into the maelstrom of Europe."

The California senator served notice that if an endeavor was made "to take us into the reparations commission, I shall be no less active or irreconcilable than in the contest which was finally won before the American people themselves."

The proposed reservation to the treaty, providing that no American representative on the reparations or other commission shall be appointed without the consent of congress, however, "protects" the country, Senator Johnson said.

"If congress is no longer responsive to the people," Senator Johnson continued, "we may despair of democracy."

"We have, therefore, a treaty made in accordance with the expressed will of the senate and of congress. Admittedly it does none of those things which are feared by its opponents. The menace which has been so valiantly fought by the senator from Missouri (Mr. Reed) and the senator from Idaho (Mr. Borah) lies not in this treaty."

PRESS CONGRESS OF THE WORLD

Philippines Editor Pleads For Open Sessions at Arms Conference

Plea For World Wide Campaign to Control Sensationalism in Papers

HONOLULU, Oct. 18.—A plea for open sessions at the forthcoming Washington conference on limitation of armaments and far Eastern questions was made here today by Gregorio Nava, editor of the Philippines Free Press, representing the Philippine press and government before the press congress of the world.

"The Pacific is making colossal strides forward," he said. "Its dot-like central islands seem to house the spark to set the world again afire. The forebodings of war would seem to accumulate on the Pacific and if unprevented, I am afraid the next most stupendous of all wars will be here."

It is here that we must put to actual test the resistance power of races against the great crime to humanity called "race prejudice."

The value of high journalistic standards as a means of attaining better international understanding, and assuaging the world of peace, was discussed yesterday by Ludwig Saxe, secretary of the Norwegian Press association.

"The moral level of the press must be raised higher than ever for the work of uplifting and enlightening humanity," said Mr. Saxe. "We cannot in a short while change the entire press system, with its power depending upon advertising and public taste, but we can strengthen our claims to our own respect for truth."

Charles Coultrops, president of the Union of the Athenian Press, voiced a plea for a world-wide campaign by press associations to control sensationalism in newspapers.

The Greek publicist, deploring the control of numbers of newspapers by a single individual or corporation as preventing complete freedom of the press, urged that the press associations of the various countries find means of requiring that the backers of newspapers have suitable integrity, capacity and learning to fit them to become publishers.

"A rich man with a chain of newspapers can do what he pleases," he declared.

DEMANDS 100 P. C. FROM BANK STOCKHOLDERS

BOSTON, Oct. 18.—Bank Commissioner Joseph C. Allen last night sent to each stockholder of the Hanover Trust company a demand for payment of the value of the stock at par in order that the debts of the closed trust company may be met.

Included in the letters is one to Charles Ponzi, now an inmate of the Plymouth county jail, for $157,000 on 1575 shares of the total of 4000 shares.

The letter of Commissioner Allen is as follows: "I have determined that it has become necessary in order to pay the debts of the Hanover Trust company, to enforce the individual liability of the stockholders to the extent of 100 per cent of the par value of the stock held by them, and I have decided to enforce said liability."

"You appear to be the owner of shares of the capital stock of the trust company, and I hereby demand payment by you of the sum of $100, that being the amount of the par value of your stock with interest from the date hereof."

"Please make payment at once to Fitz-Henry Smith, Jr., liquidating agent of the Hanover Trust company, at the Journal building, 268 Washington street, Boston, Mass."

At the time of the closing of the trust company it was generally known that Ponzi held 1575 shares of the total issued by the bank and it is expected that Commissioner Allen will bring suit against the trustees for the amount.

HARDING COMMENTS

FATHER AND SON WEEK

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Commendation by President Harding of Father and Son week, to be observed November 5 to 12, was embodied in a letter received today by the international committee of the Y.M.C.A.

The president said in part: "The success of this movement during the past four or five years has won for it a distinct place as a most constructive institution for increasing a more sympathetic relationship between father and son, and thus strengthening the home ties upon which the strength of our nation depends."

Seven Members of the Committee Appointed by Mayor Thompson to Investigate Unemployment Problem Here

ALBERT J. GILMORE

ARTHUR G. POLLARD

ALBERT D. MILLIKEN

JOSEPH A. GAGNON

WILLIAM A. MITCHELL

CHARLES E. ANDERSON

Mayor Thompson will call a meeting of his committee to combat the unemployment situation in this city within a day or two. The mayor had intended a meeting today or tomorrow but as three of the members of the committee are not in the city he thought it advisable to wait until he could obtain a full meeting. The mayor said all those to whom he had sent invitations expressed willingness to serve and do their bit to relieve the conditions here.

Mayor Thompson is especially anxious to get his organization in working order at once, so that something can be accomplished before cold weather arrives. No plans have been mapped out as yet, but after the first meeting, it is expected things will begin to shape themselves rapidly and that results will be obtained in short order.

The situation here remains about the same, although efforts are being made from all sides to give those out of work something to do. People who have work not considered as absolutely essential are having it done at this time to give what aid they can to the unemployed.

The mayor received a letter from Secretary James Jackson of the Massachusetts committee to promote work, appointed by Gov. Cox, asking just what Lowell was doing to relieve the unemployed situation.

Mr. Jackson asked that a report be sent to him which might be used to further the work of his committee. Mayor Thompson said he would make a report to Mr. Jackson and keep him advised as to what the Lowell body was doing in the matter.

The committee now includes William A. Mitchell, agent of the Massachusetts mills; Albert D. Milliken, agent of the Hamilton mills; Everett H. Walker, agent of the Lawrence mills; Arthur G. Pollard, merchant; Joseph A. Gagnon, merchant; Albert J. Gilmore, general manager of the

The defendant on the stand denied he was drunk at the time and stated that he was swinging out of a garage when the other automobile came along. Despite lengthy and eloquent arguments by counsel for the defendant, the court stated he had no doubt from the testimony offered by the government that Beauparlant was drunk at the time and deserved sentence.

The case of Charles Gilman, charged with operating a motor vehicle without a registration in his possession, was continued to October 27.

When the case of Frank W. Gilman, against whom stands a manslaughter charge, was called, Asst. Clerk Torg informed the court that the report on the inquest held by Judge McKim on this case two weeks ago was not yet ready and another continuance was advisable. The case was continued to Oct. 25.

Charges Dismissed

Judge Enright dismissed the complaints of attempted breaking and entering and attempt to commit larceny against Thomas Greenhalge and Jeremiah Hanley. The defendants both of whom are about 17 years of age, were found in a camp at Tyngsboro on the afternoon of Oct. 10 and placed under arrest by officers of that town. Before the trial opened the court had ruled that since Hanley was not 17 years old on the date of the alleged offense his arraignment must come before the juvenile session. Greenhalge was, therefore, tried alone, but when the court found him not guilty, counsel for Hanley requested the latter youth's dismissal, which was granted. In discharging the case, Judge Enright criticized the Tyngsboro police, saying that conviction in this instance was impossible owing to lack of evidence. The owner of the camp where the attempted break was alleged to have taken place was not summoned to court. When Deputy Downey replied to a criticism of the court that the local police could not go to Tyngsboro and prepare a case that came under another police force's jurisdiction, the judge stated: "I'm not blaming you, deputy, this is the fault of the Tyngsboro officers. They don't care to get evidence and prepare a case as it should be prepared, and then they expect conviction."

That her husband had lost a sum of money and blamed her for the loss and as a result subjected her to cruel abuse, was the testimony offered by Mrs. Rose Waterson of High street, against James Waterson, who was before the court for assault and battery and drunkenness. He was given three months to the house of correction. He pleaded guilty to both charges. Officer Kilman told the court he had received several complaints against Waterson.

Unwelcome Visitors

"Visitors from New Hampshire are not welcome in our city, for they come to get drunk every time they come to Lowell," Judge Enright told Dennis Reardon, who said he lived in Salem, N. H., and who was charged with drunkenness. The court imposed a four months sentence, suspended a year, to the house of correction. Reardon told the court he came to this city over the week-end, mixed in with some friends, got drunk, and among other things missed $45. He could not say who took the money.
